PROLOGUE

A Yearbook Remembers . . .

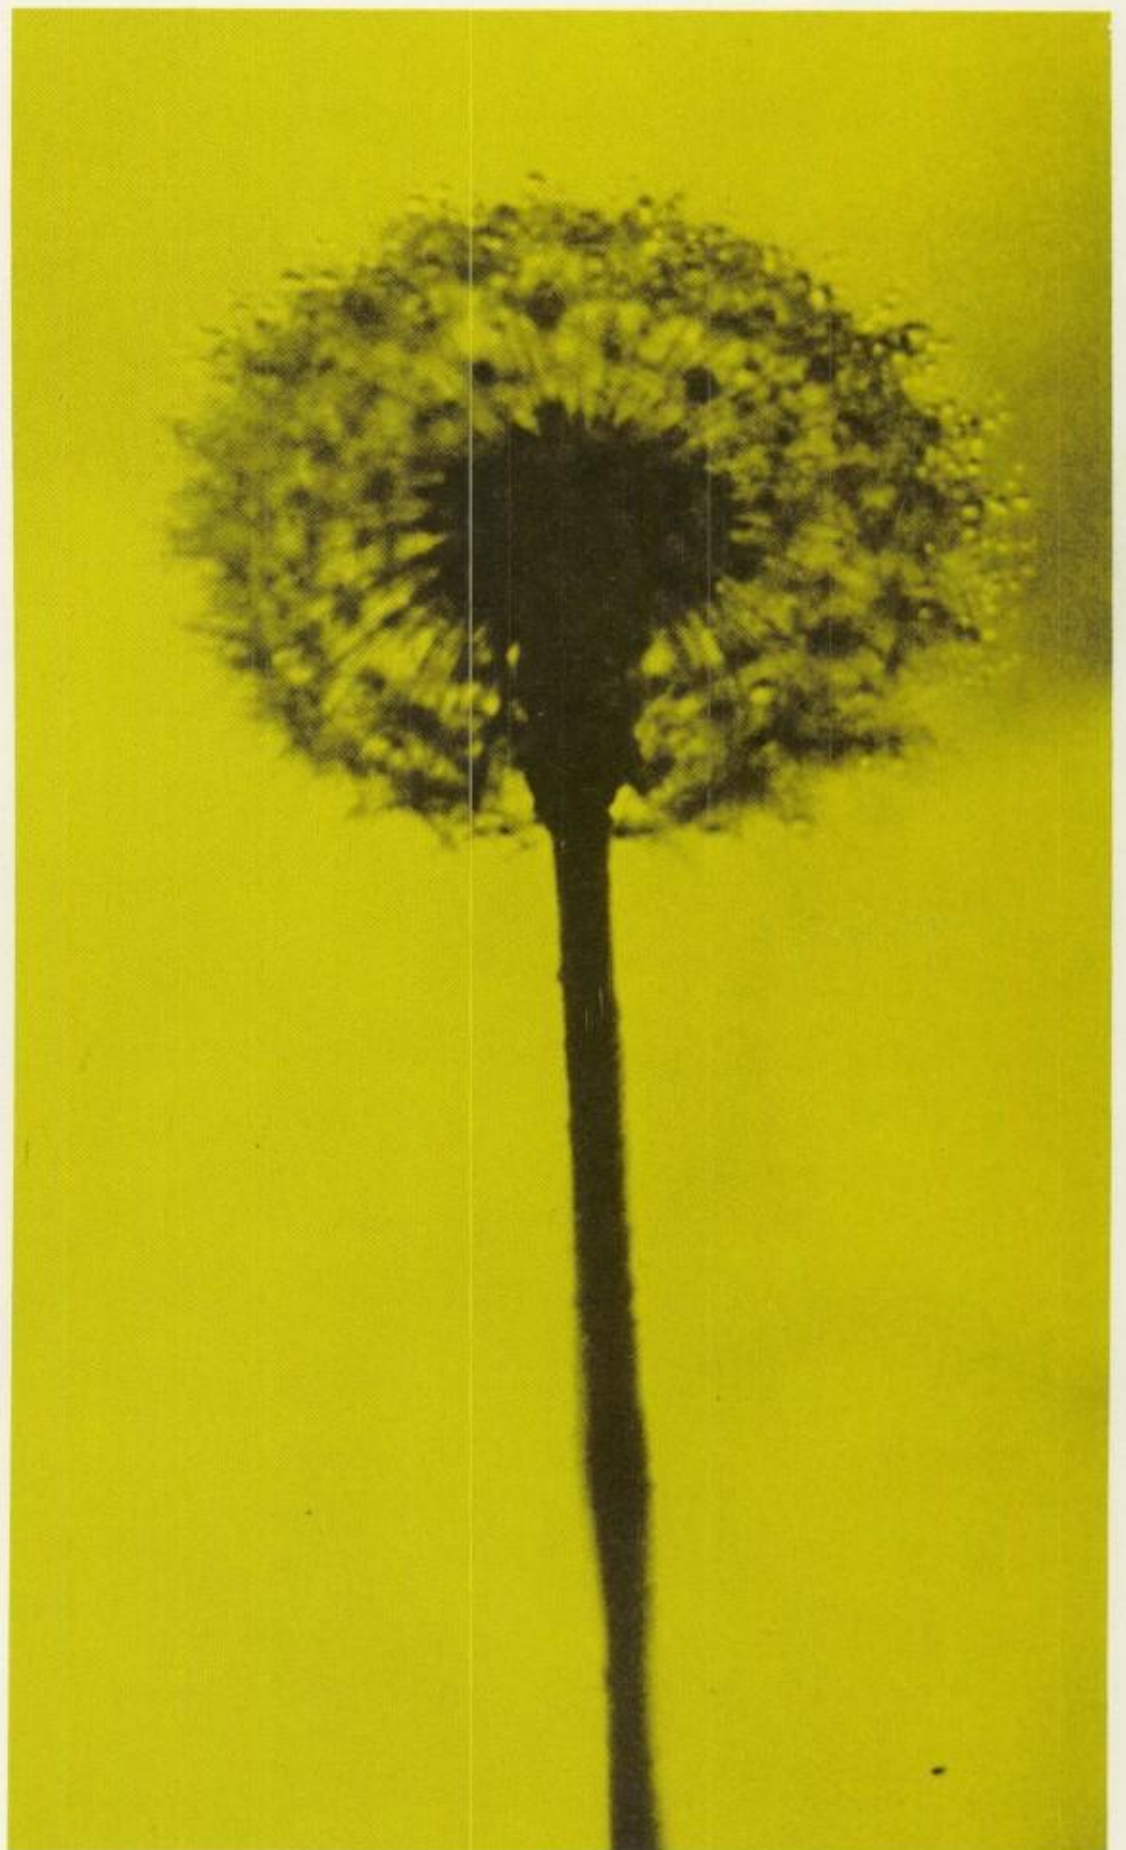

. . . not only the activities related to school, but those feelings and ideas we experienced day-in and day-out. Some of these aspects are painful, some are beautiful, but they all have an effect on our lives.

Beauty being the best of all we know, sums up the unsearchable and secret aims of nature.

R. BRIDGES

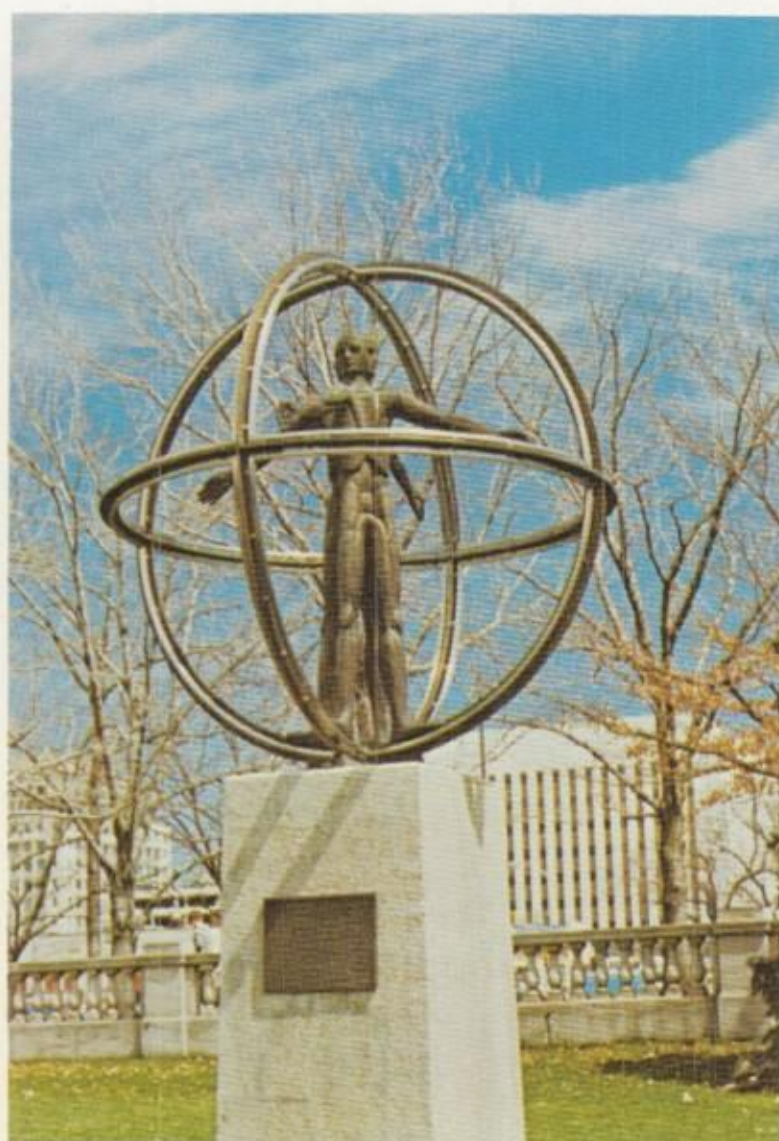

In process of the seasons I have seen . . .
W. SHAKESPEARE

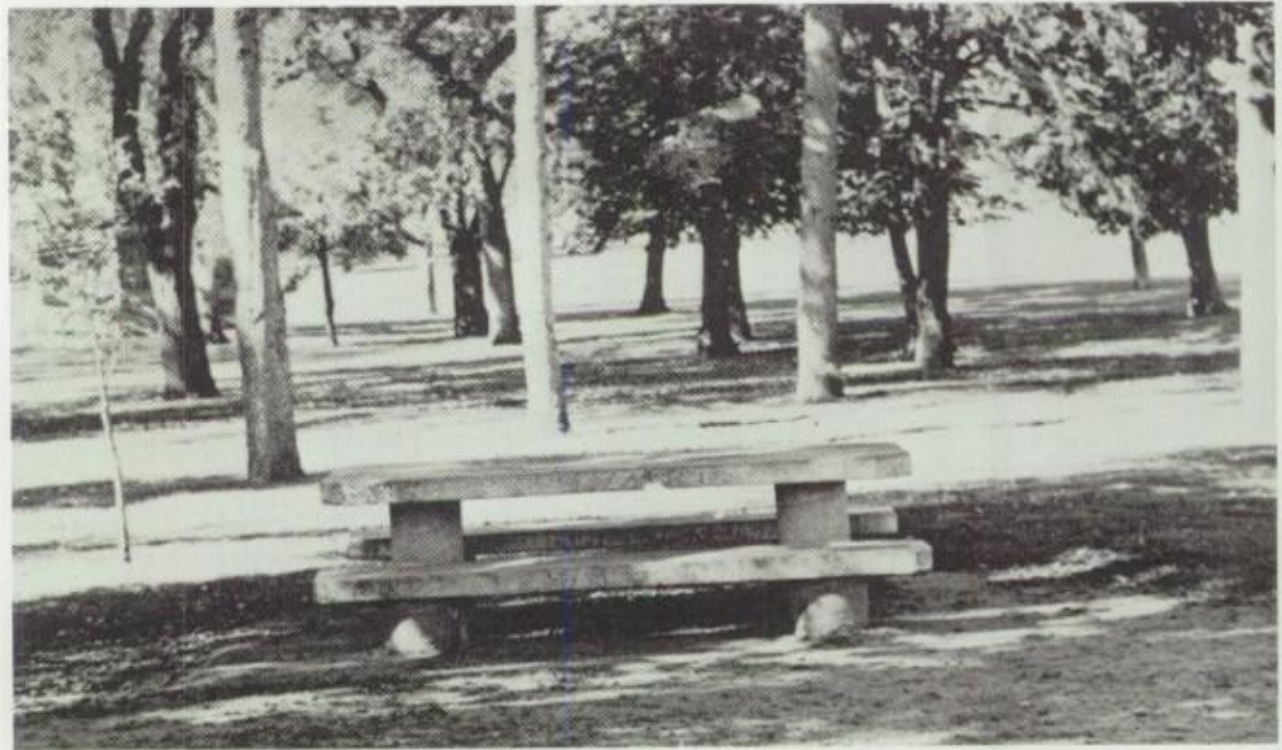

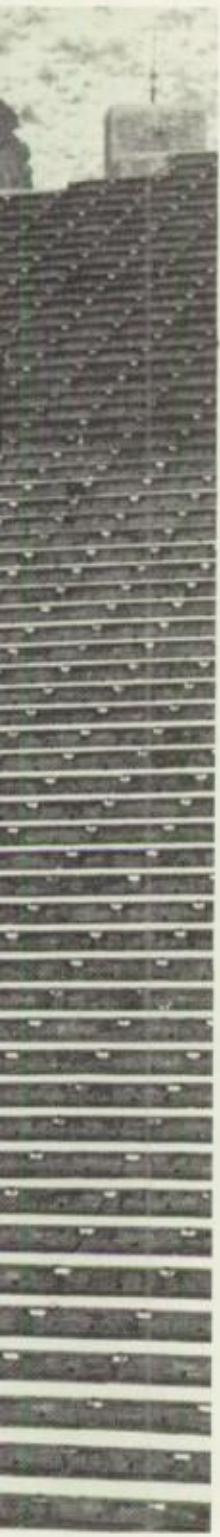

"There's a new kind of beauty afoot."
S. KUBRICK

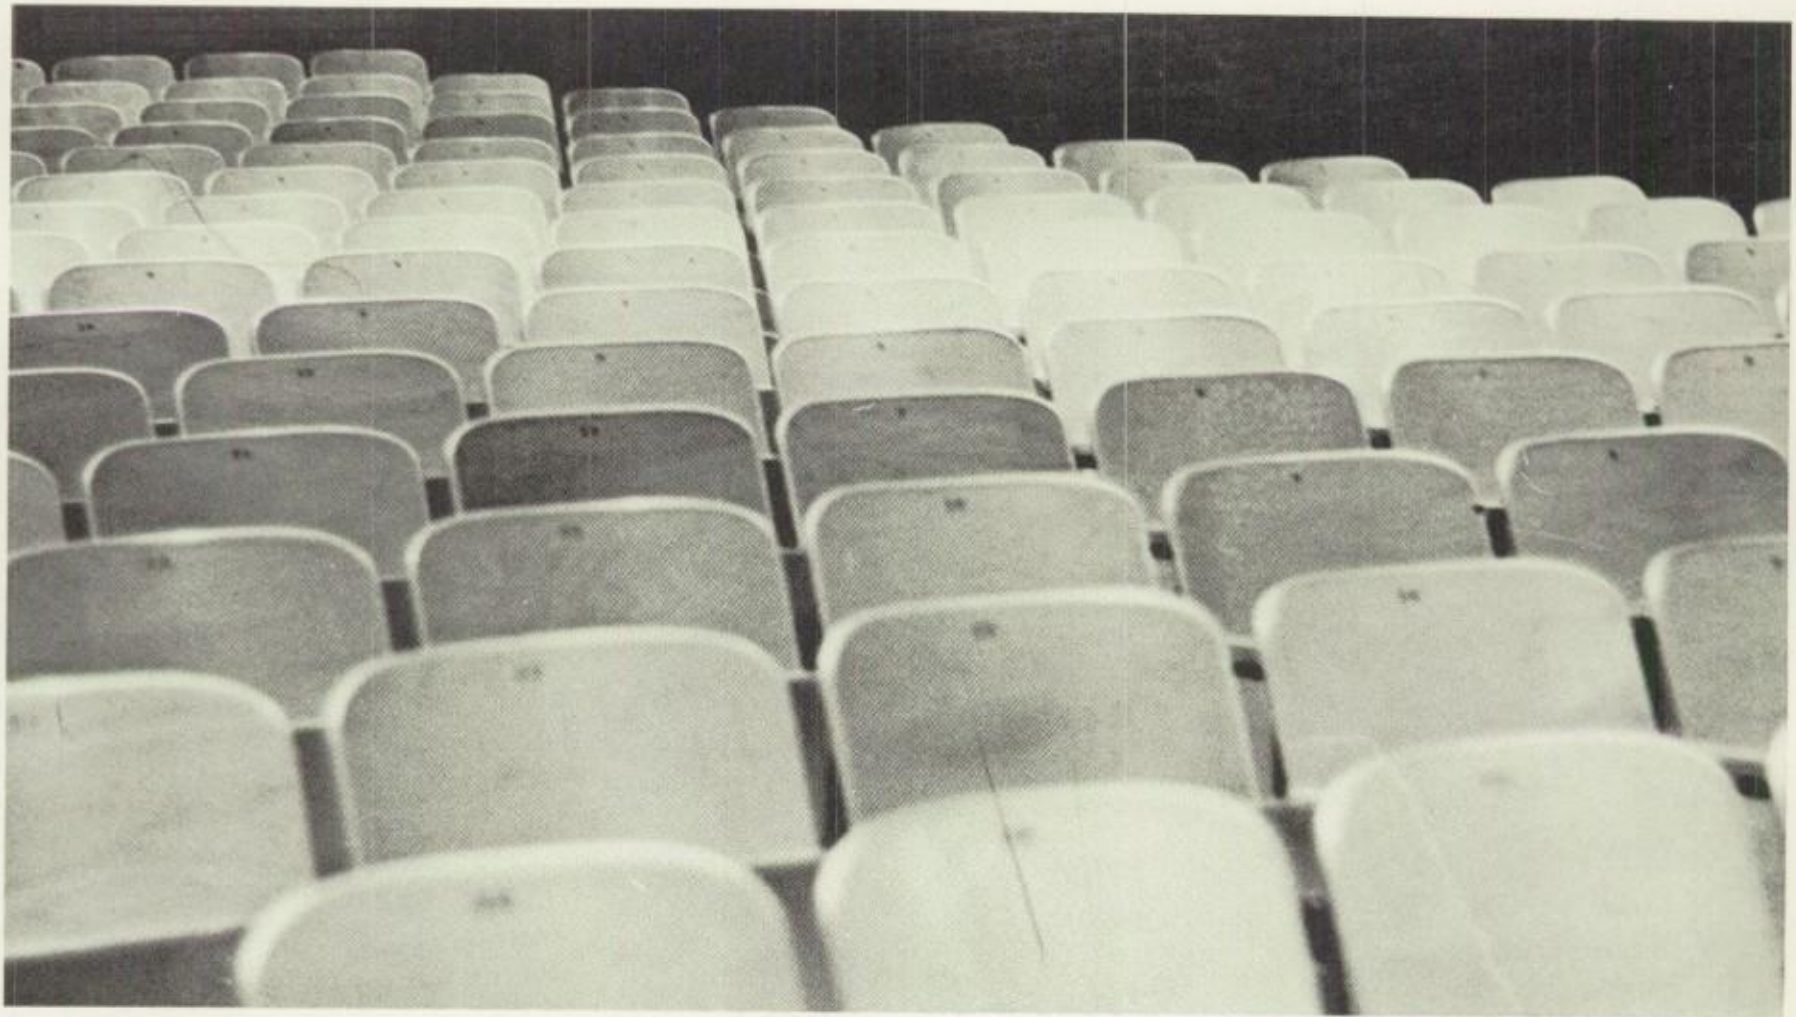

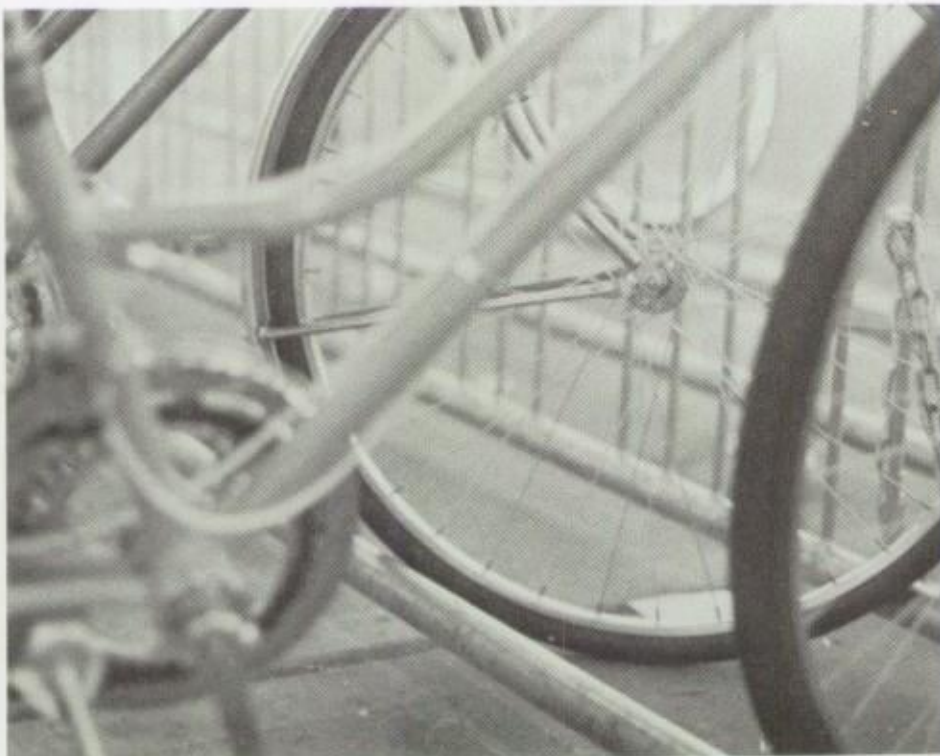

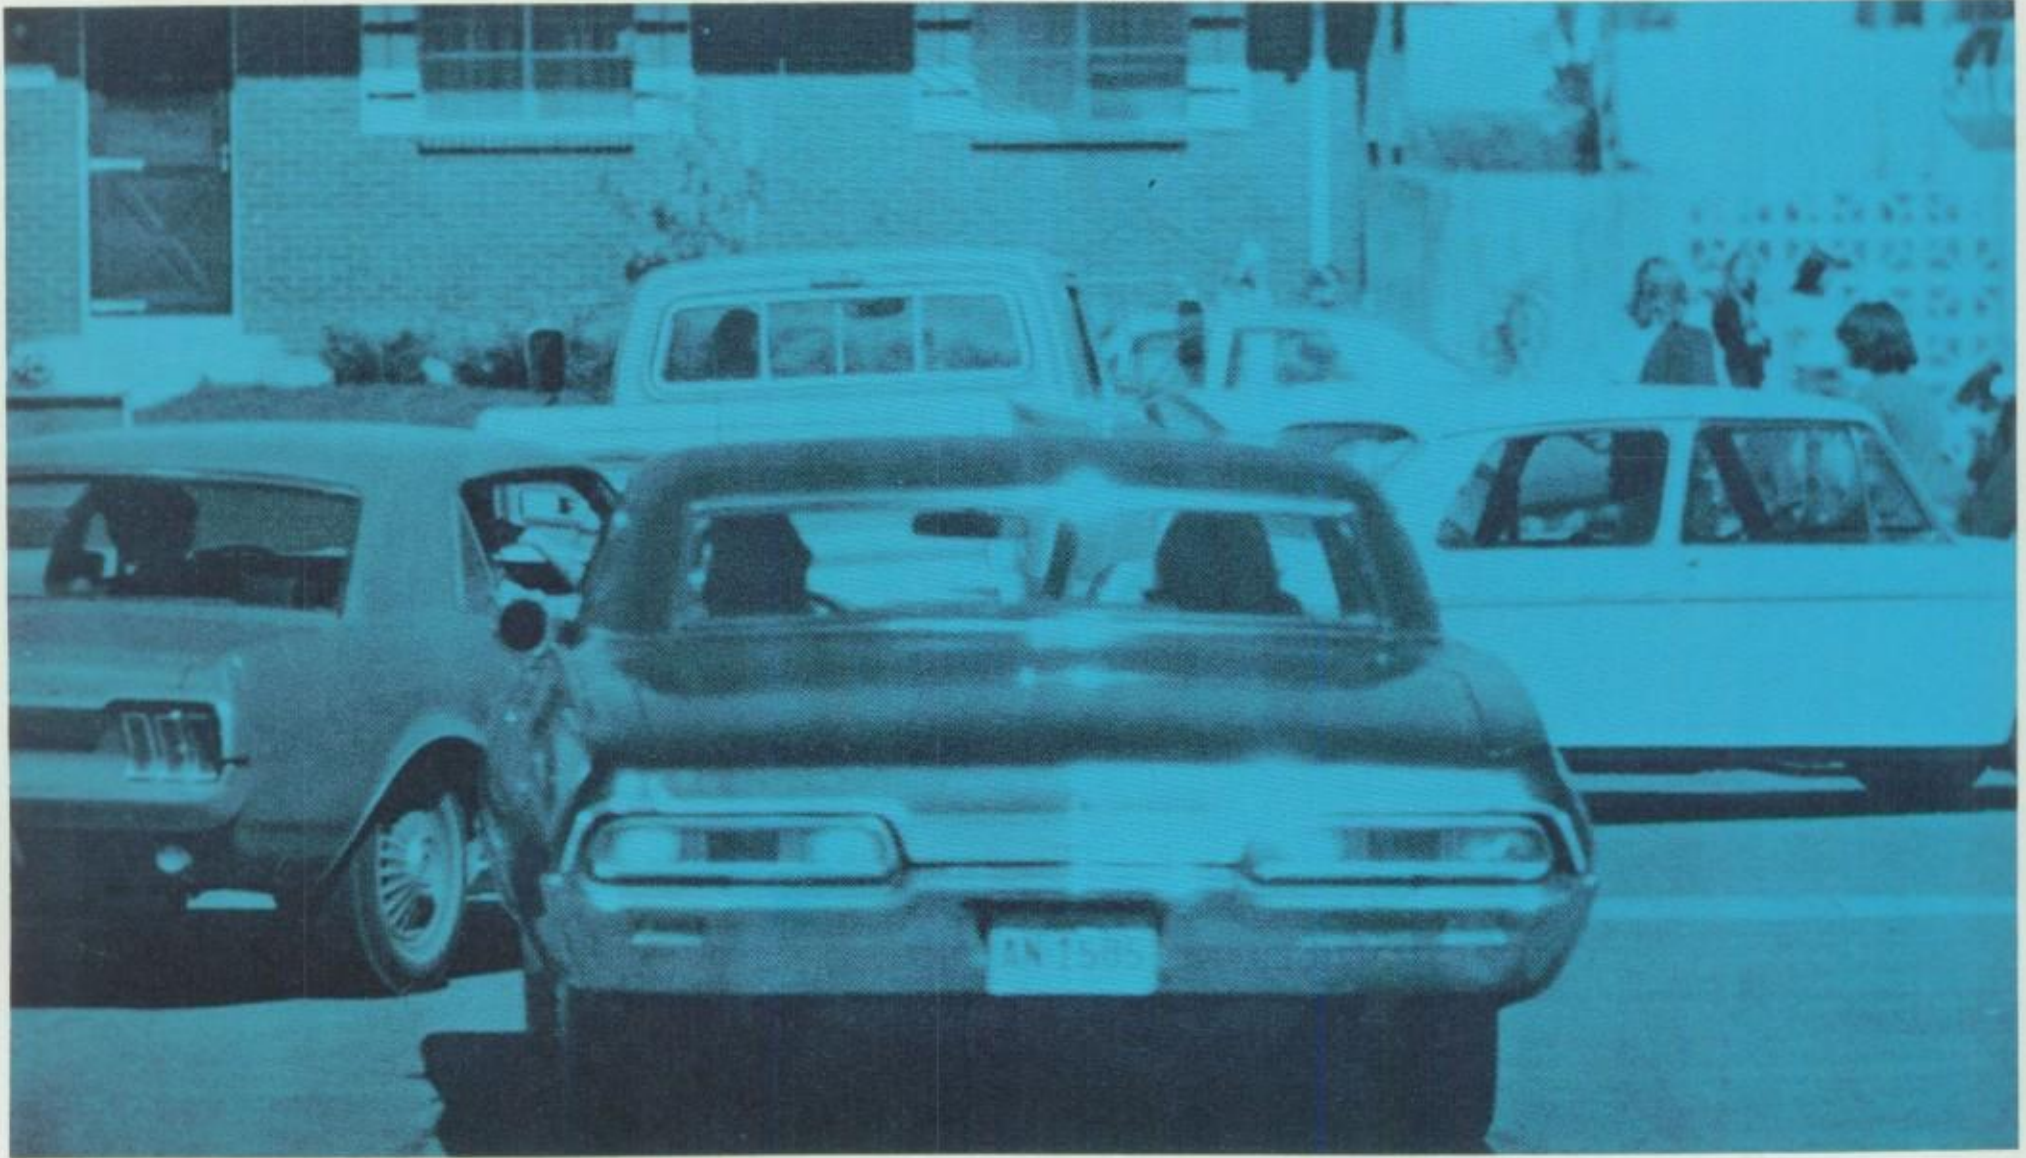

And often did I strive . . . To find the empty, vast and wand'ring air.

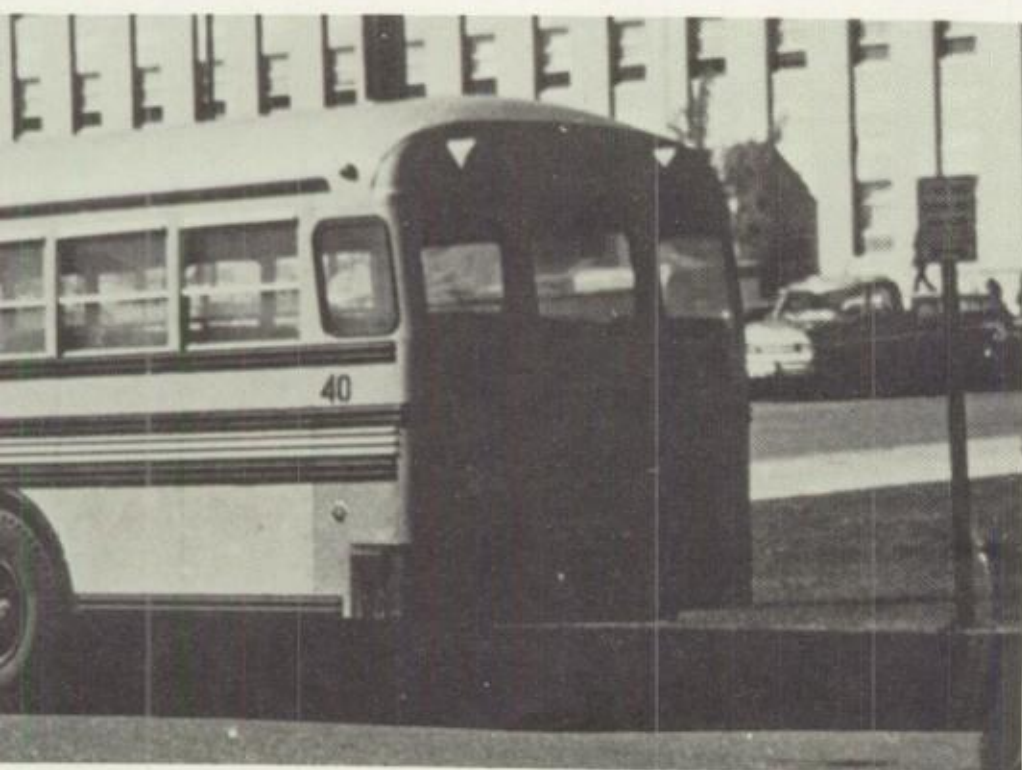

W. SHAKESPEARE

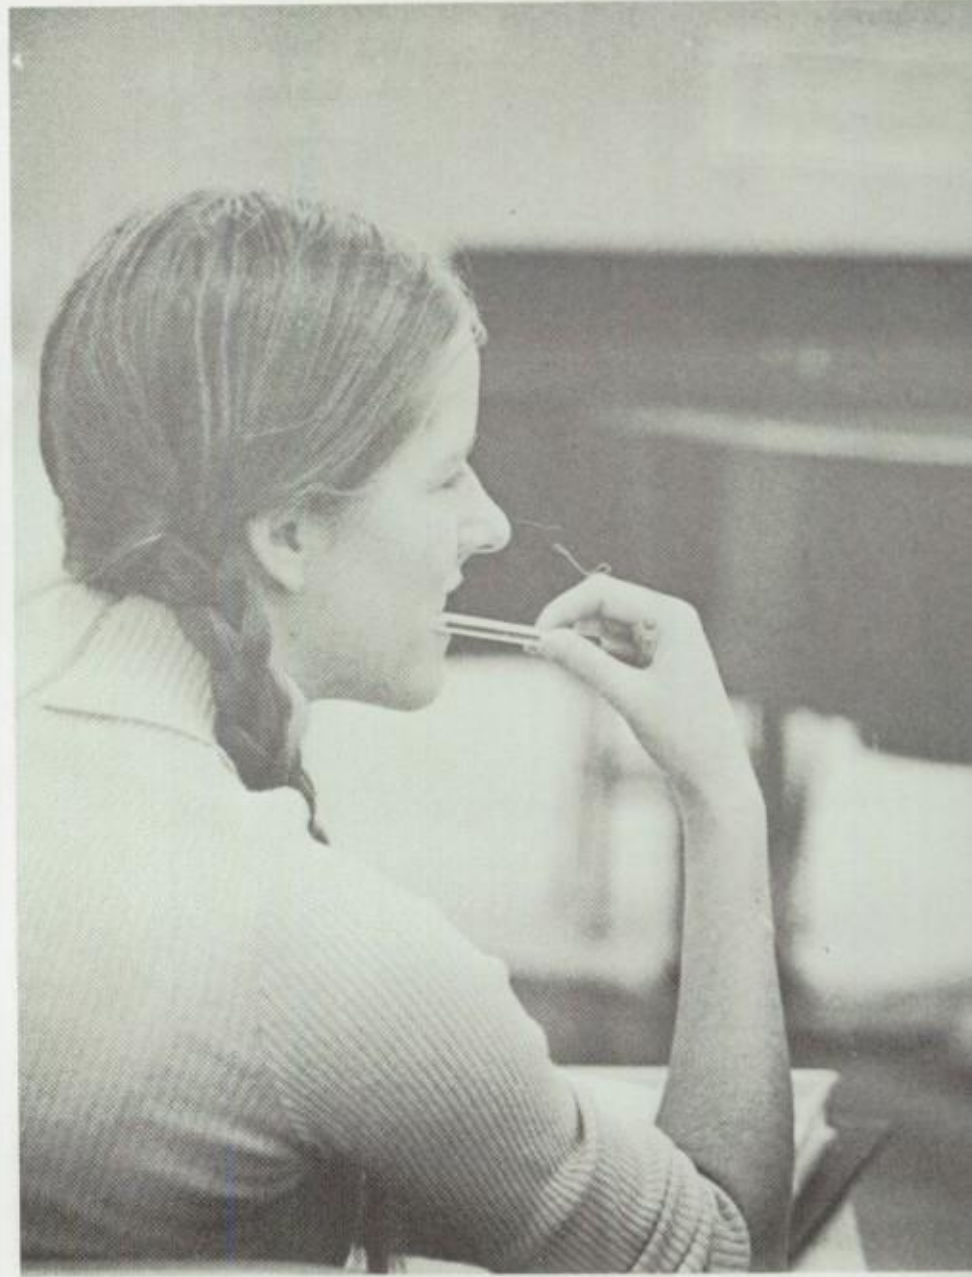

Nature that framed us of four elements . . . doth teach us all to have aspiring minds . . .
and measure every wand'ring planet's course, still climbing after knowledge, infinite and always moving as the restless spheres.

C. MARLOWE

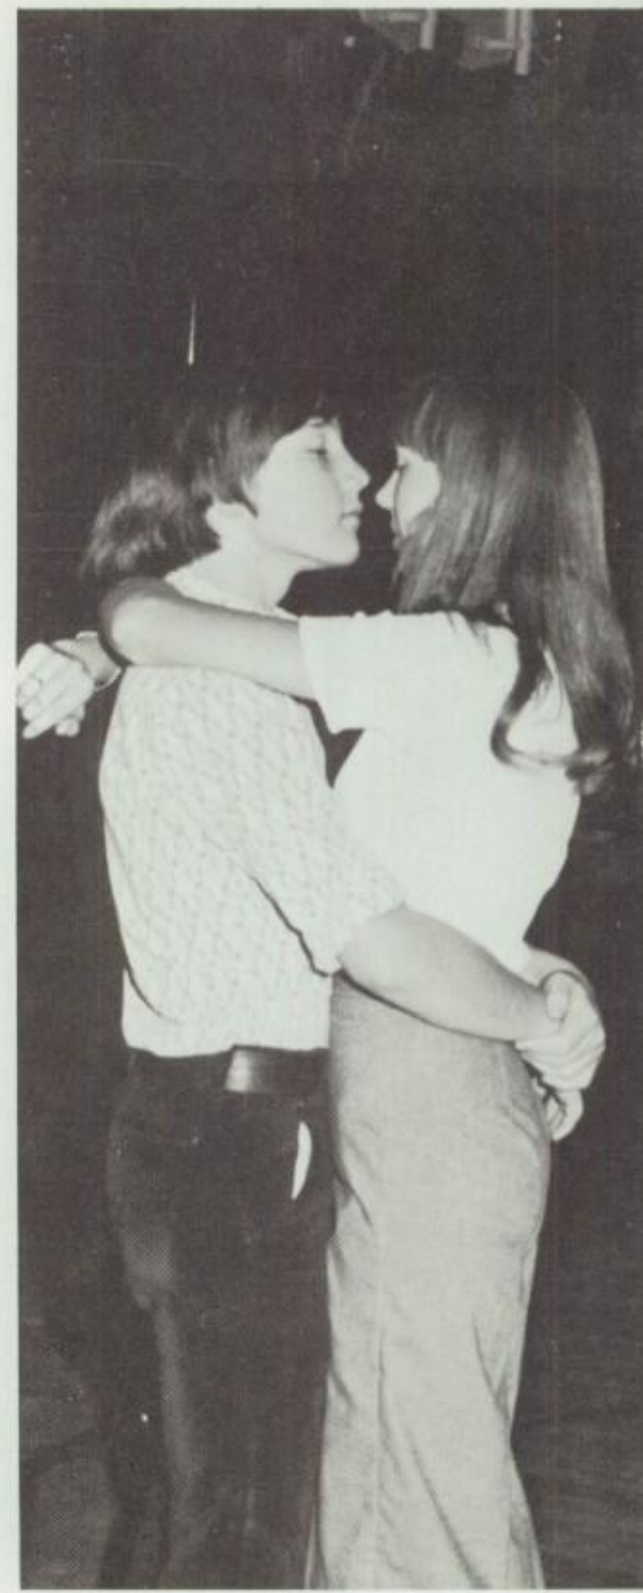

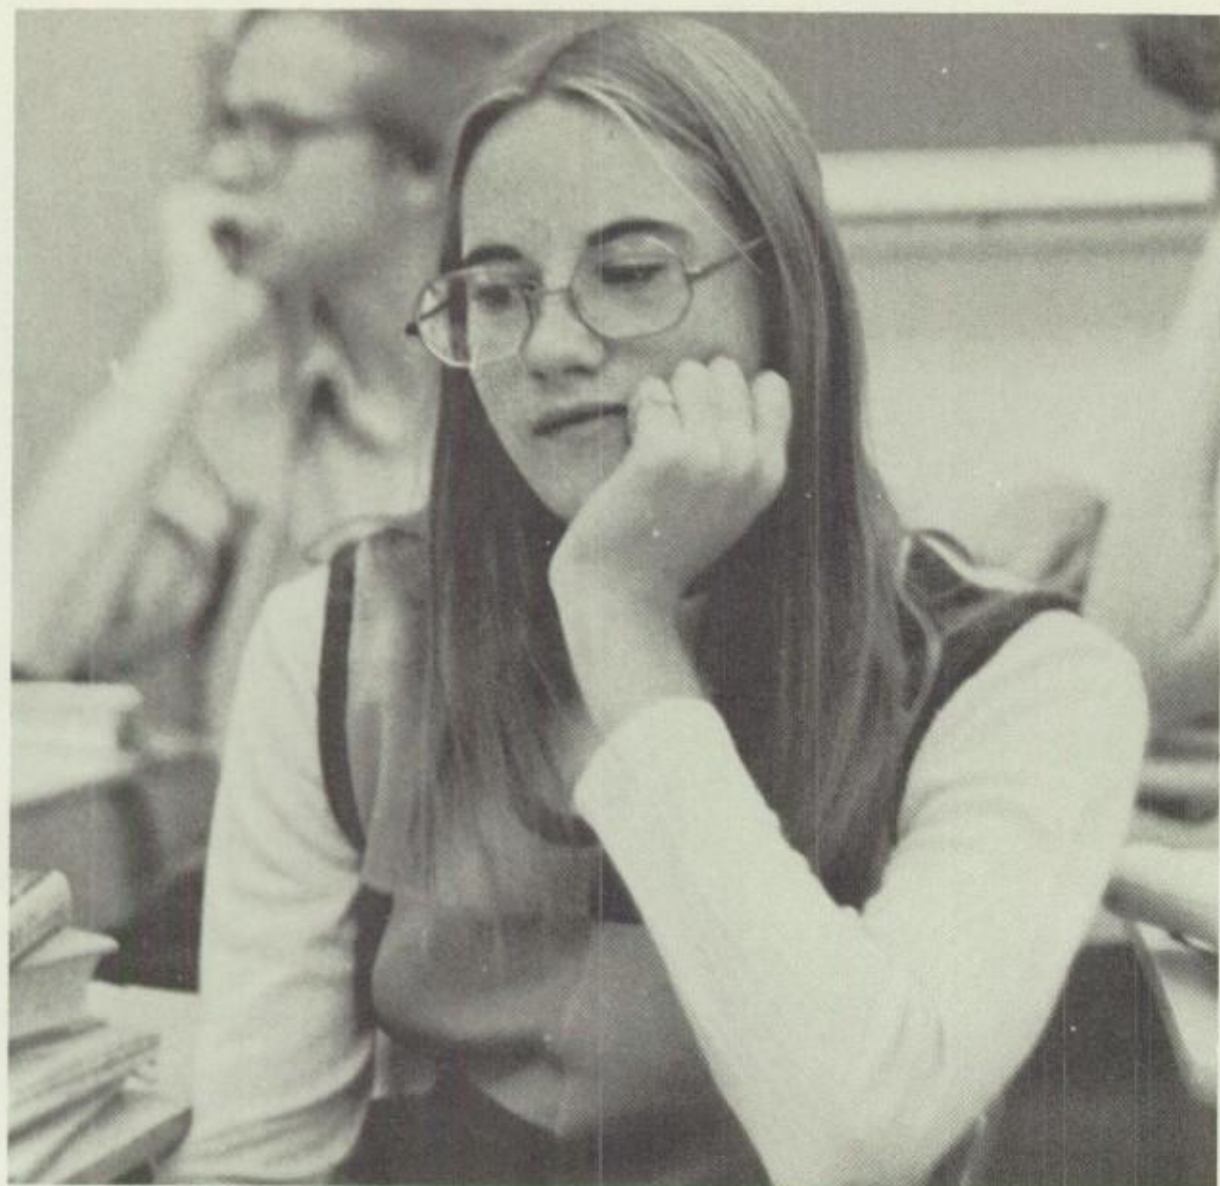

I wish you all the joy you can wish.

W. SHAKESPEARE

We must learn to live together as brothers or perish together as fools
MARTIN LUTHER KING

PEOPLE

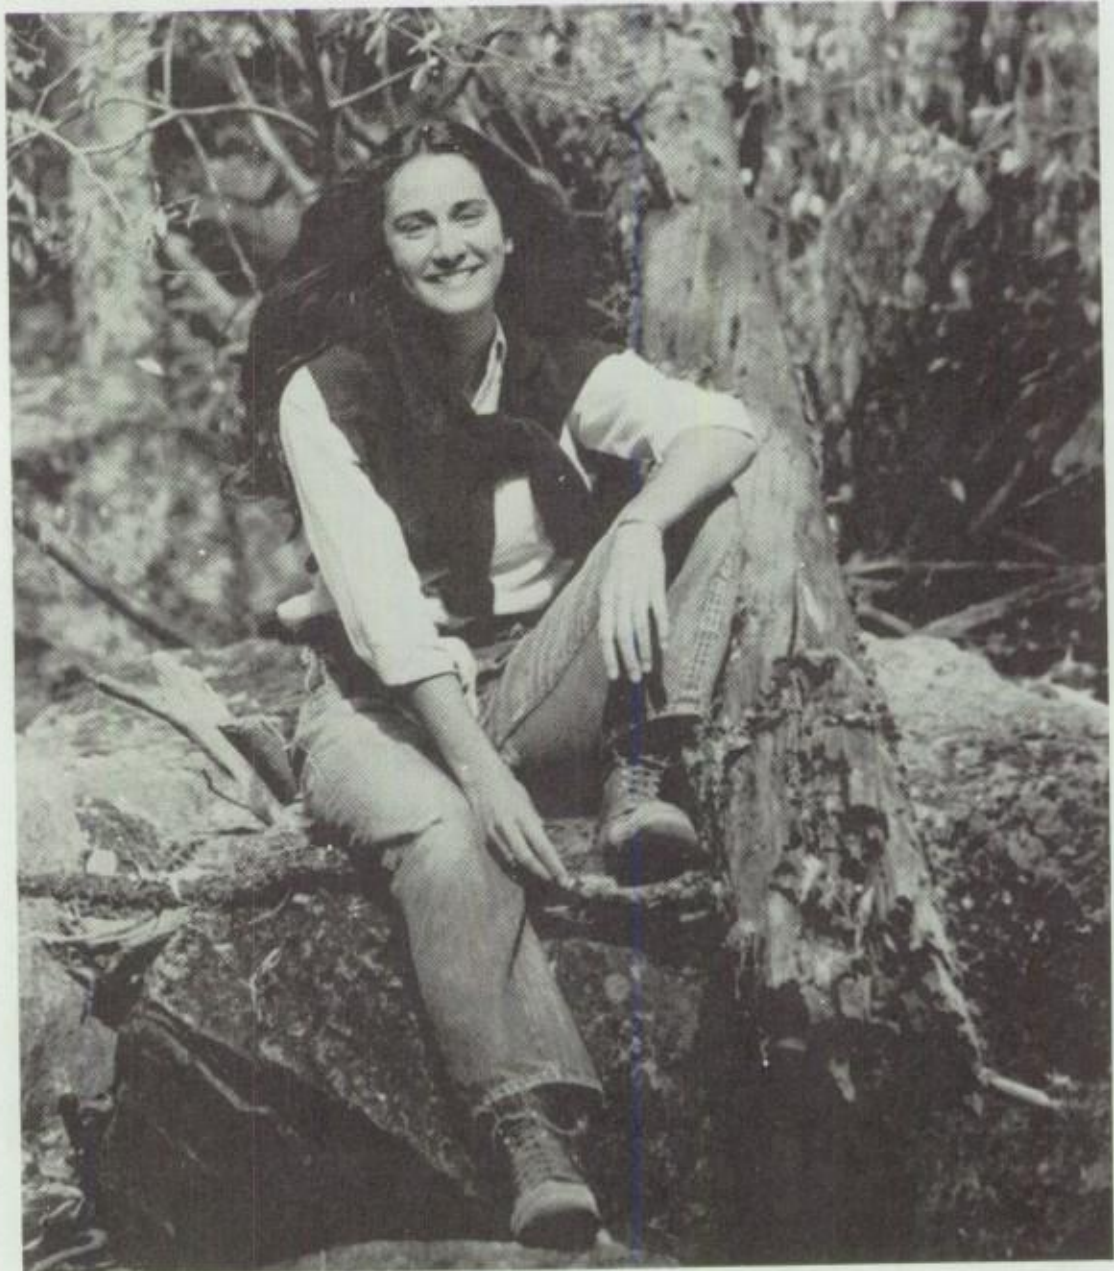

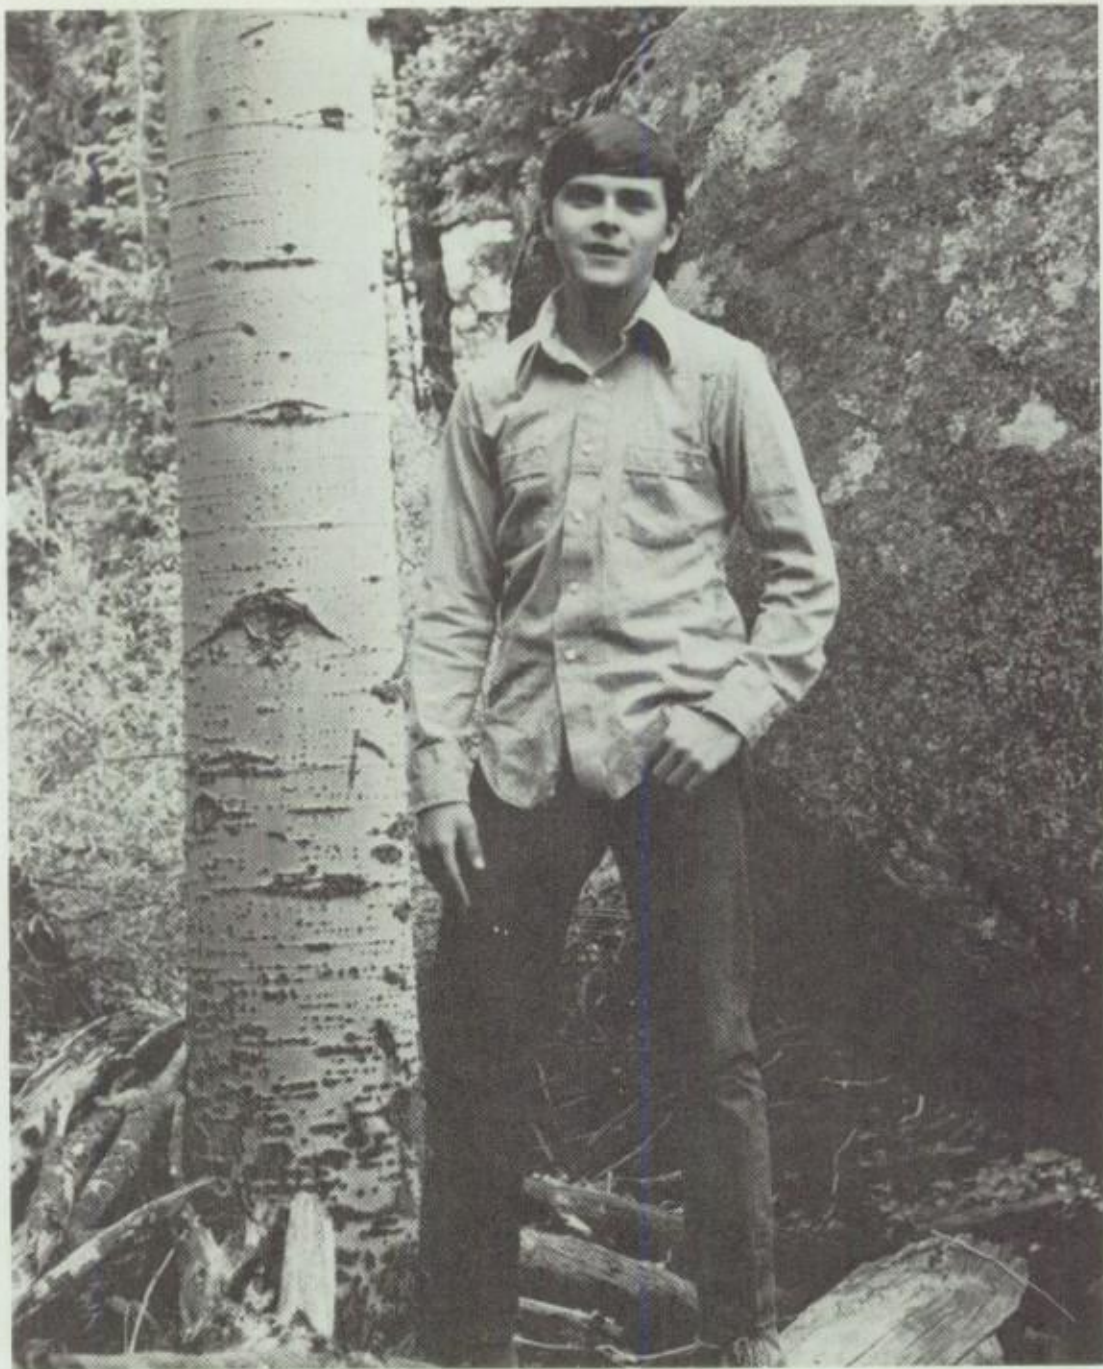

Promoting some communications

To serve as a medium between the administrators and students was the original purpose behind the formation of high school student councils. But as time went on, it became clear that student voices were being drowned out by rules and regulations.

Kennedy Student Council wants to overcome this problem, and is trying to open up communications between the student body and the administration, but it takes time and strong members who are willing to stand behind their beliefs.

Besides the usual sponsoring of activities such as Career Day, Issues Day, and Spirit Week, this year's Student Council tried hard to search out and then act upon the wants and needs of the JFK students.

CENTER-Upper: Teri Zuber, Secretary.
Lower: This year's Student council.

Class concern provided unity

The class of '74 finally reached the top. After five years of looking up, the seniors could now sit on top and look back. Not only could they look back on the past five years, but especially upon their senior year, their last year.

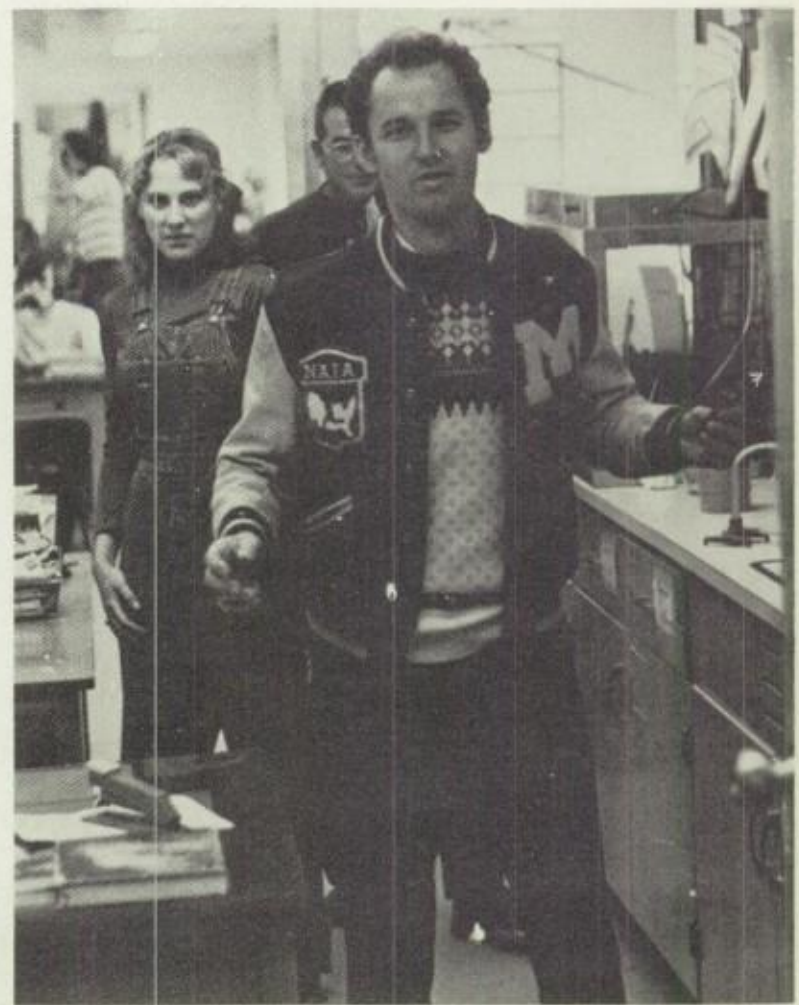

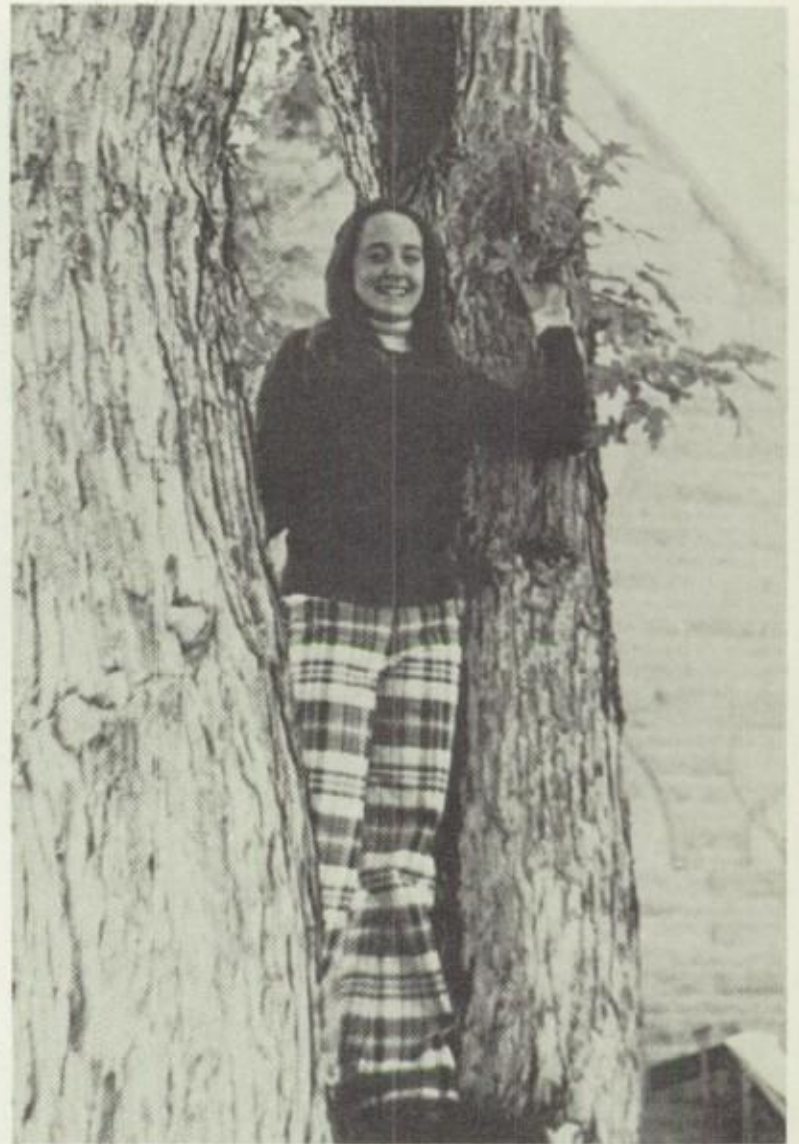

For this was the year the seniors became the leaders and the varsity. Imaginations were set free to develop new ideas and traditions which Kennedy would remember them by. Concern for ecology was not only a phase, but for the class of '74 a deep realization that a long-lasting effort would be necessary; thus, an artificial tree was bought and donated for future years. And then, no one will forget their all-famous sales of Nestle's candy bars.

All the traditional privileges that went along with the title seniors were enjoyed: the hot, and noisy senior lounge, prom, brunch and graduation.

Then too, perhaps because it was their last year in sports, Kennedy athletes, both male and female, led their teams to higher levels of excellence than ever before. For the first time, the football team closely battled for the city title, while the girl's gymnastics team became city champs.

Through all of this, though, the class of '74 realized that being a senior meant the last year with people they'd spent at least six years with, and it meant going separate ways. However, they have their memories to relive as well as hope for an unknown future.

The threshold of a dream . . .

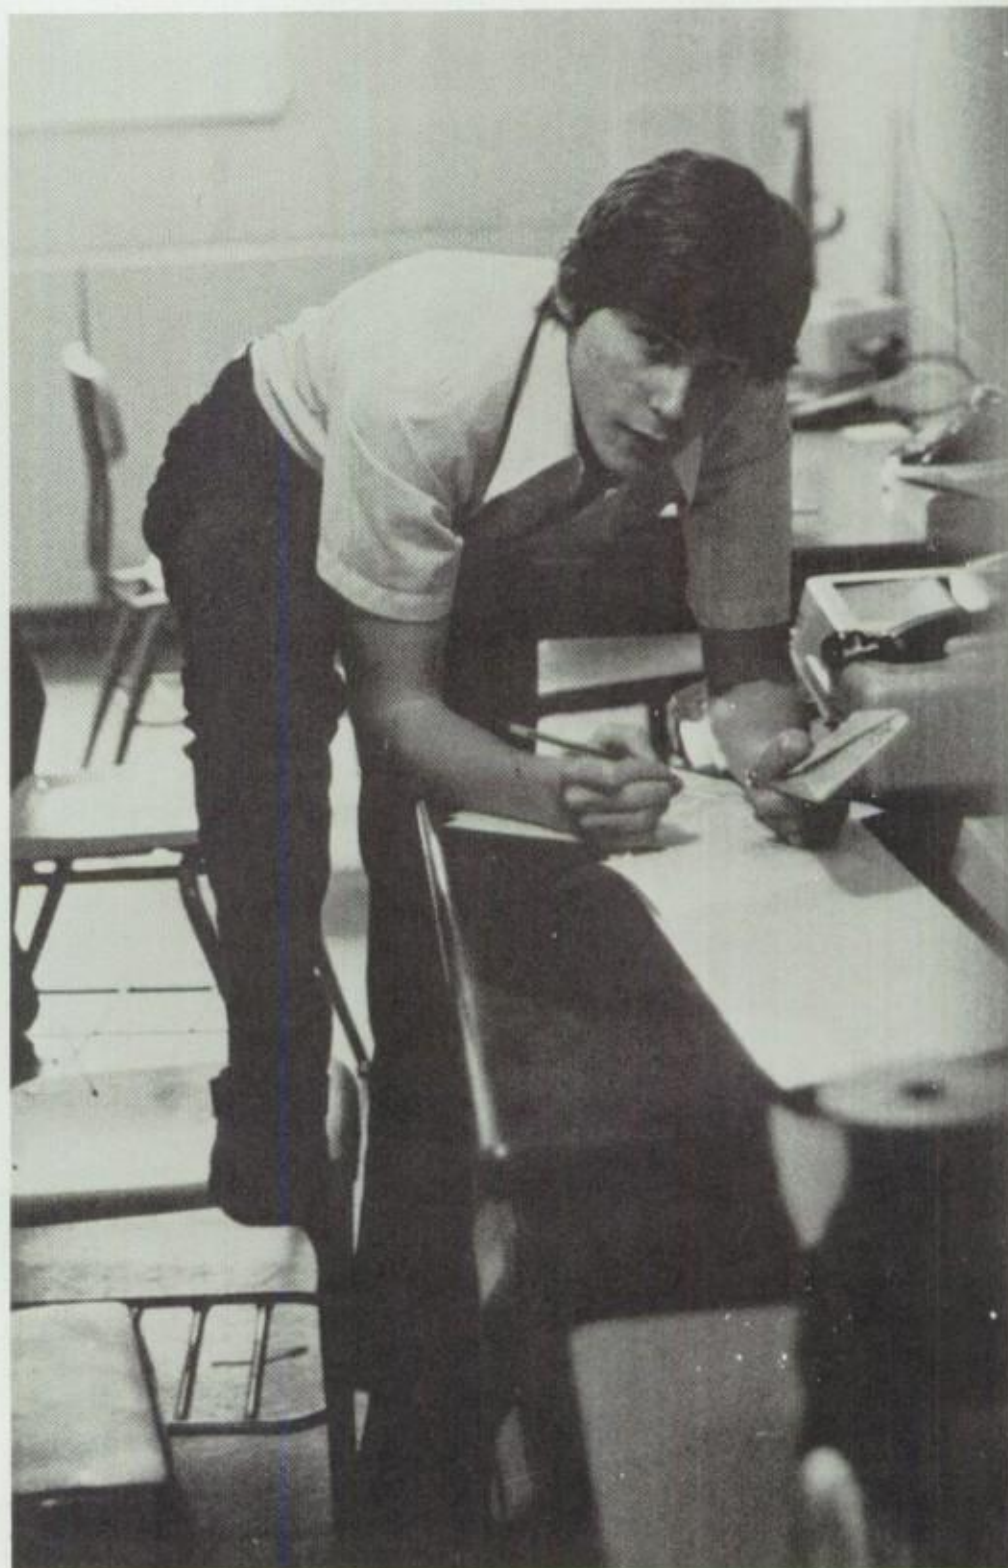

In every celebration of ending and beginning there is both the remembrance of tribulation and anticipation of good.

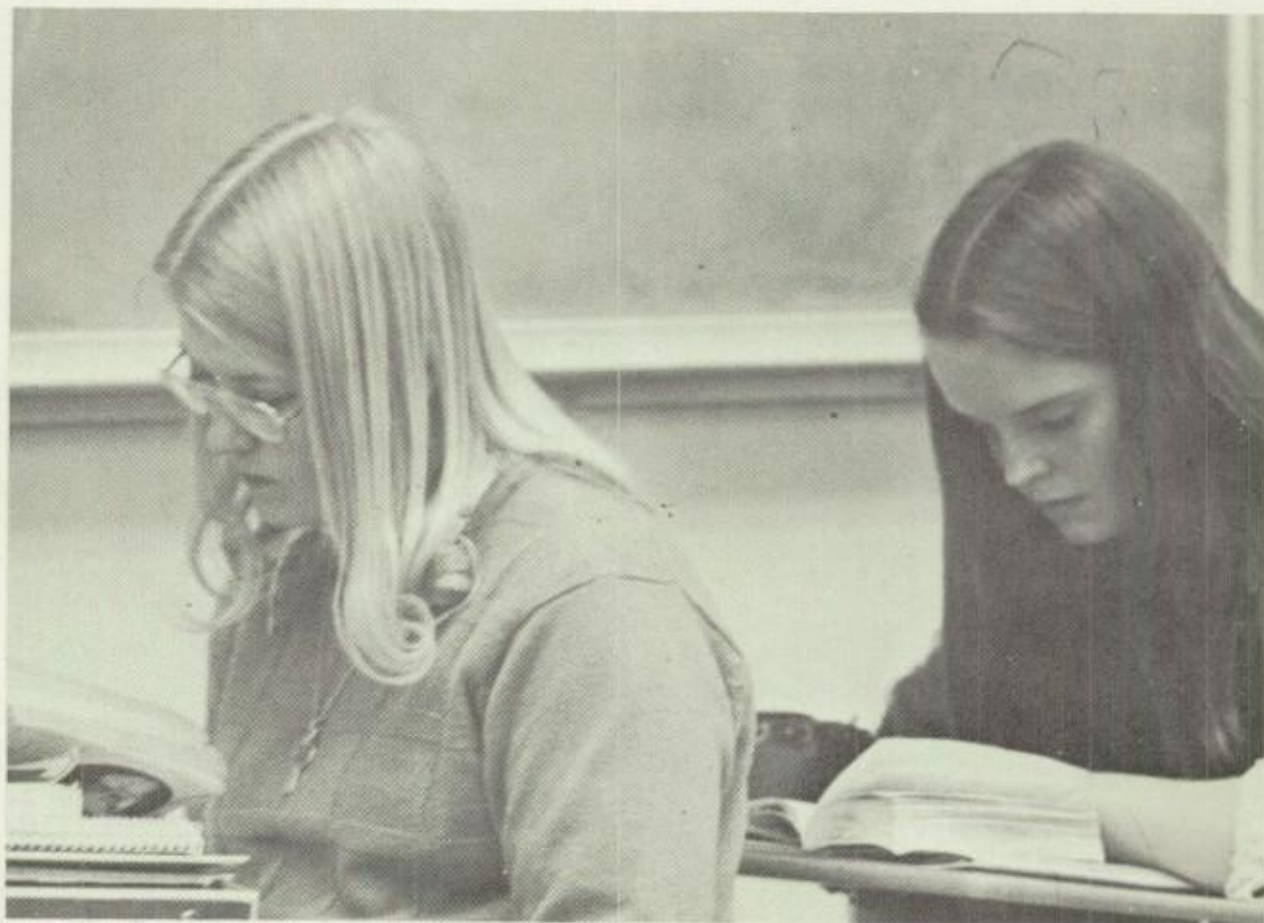

There is, too, the knowledge that suffering must make both the people and the man more certain of the right, while triumph brings with it the command to respect the right.

J. F. KENNEDY

This year, the 1974 PROFILE is re-instating a once lost tradition of honoring several seniors for their achievements and attitudes expressed while at Kennedy. In the following pages are pictured ten people who were voted by the faculty as Outstanding Seniors.

Two years down and one to go!

After having once gotten their feet wet as sophomores, the Class of '75 jumped head first into a sea of activities this year.

Using their previous experiences as guidelines, the juniors took full advantage of the opportunities offered them, and lead the school in many fields.

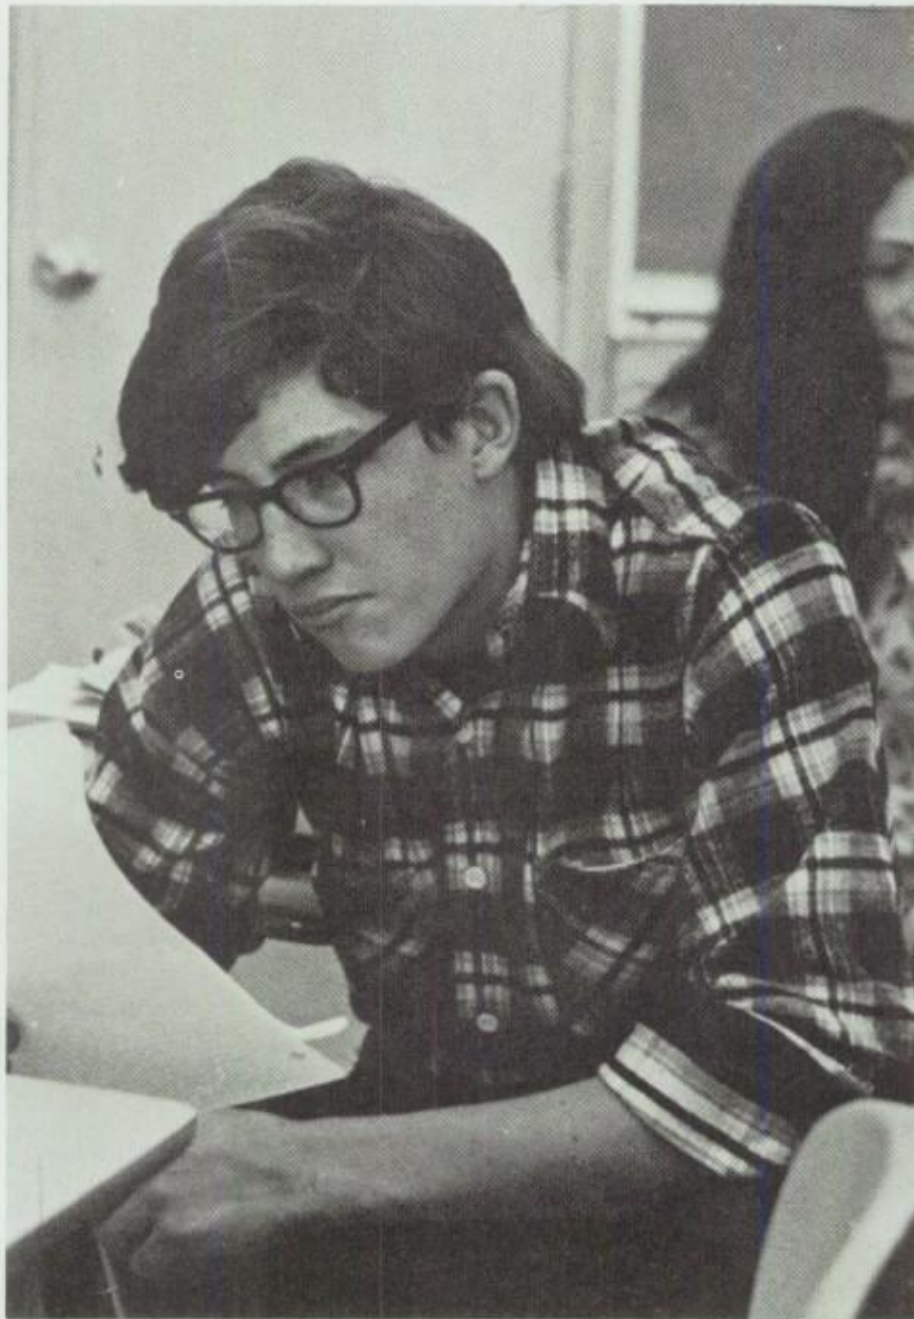

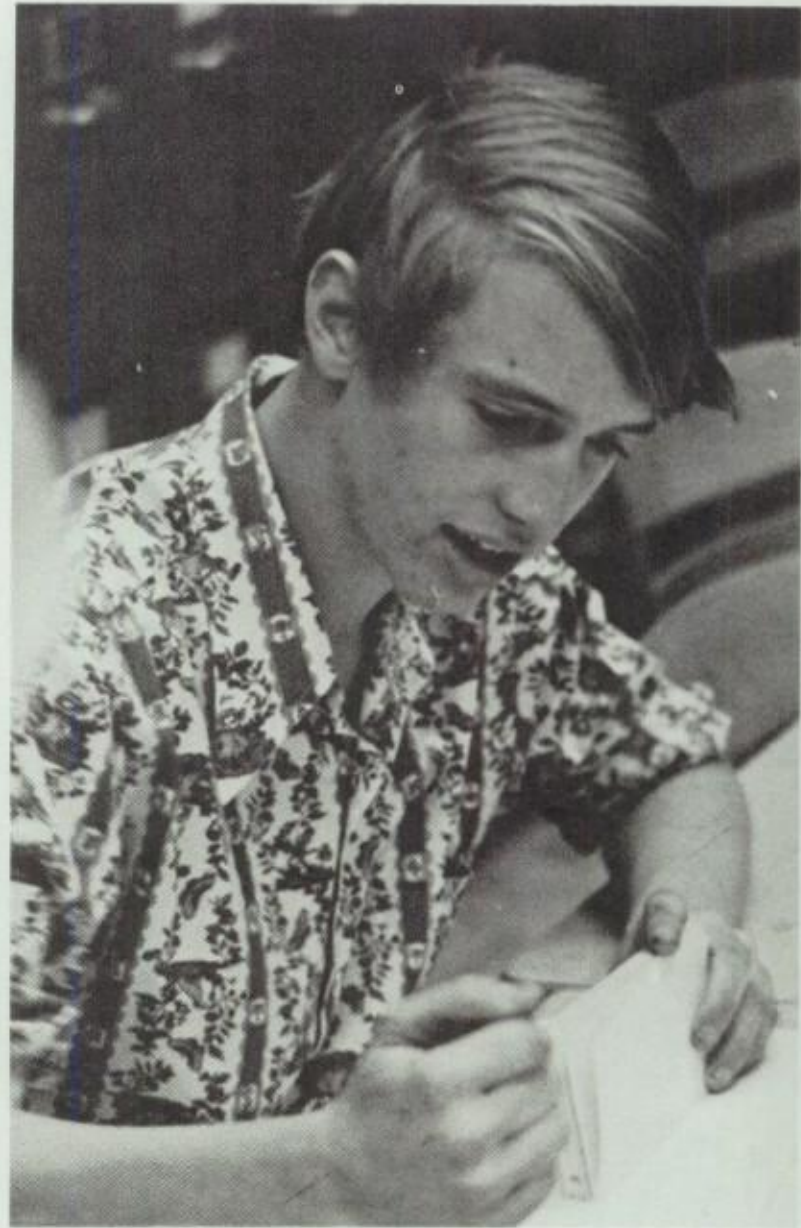

Looking forward to their senior year with great expectations the "Pride of 75" is definitely on its way to leaving its mark at JFK.

The beginning of the end . . .

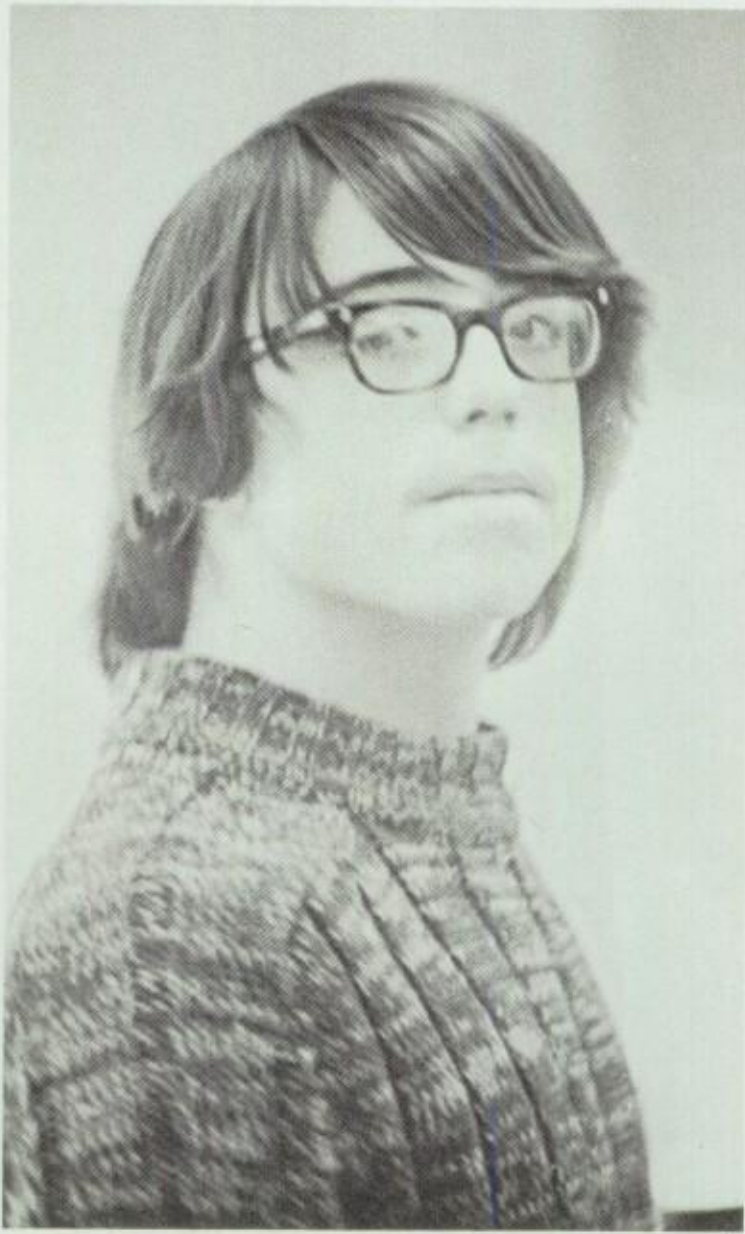

Sophomore year—the first year of high school. The building was the same, most of the faces were the same, but somehow at 7:00 in the morning it all took on a little different air.

Stepping down from the top rung of junior high to the bottom rung of senior high sounded a little depressing at first, but with all the new experiences and activities the sophomores involved themselves in, it wasn't long before they were "just a part of the gang."

Sophomores faced early awakening

United there is little we cannot do in a host of cooperative ventures. Divided, there is little we can do--for we dare not meet a powerful challenge at odds and split asunder.

SPORTS

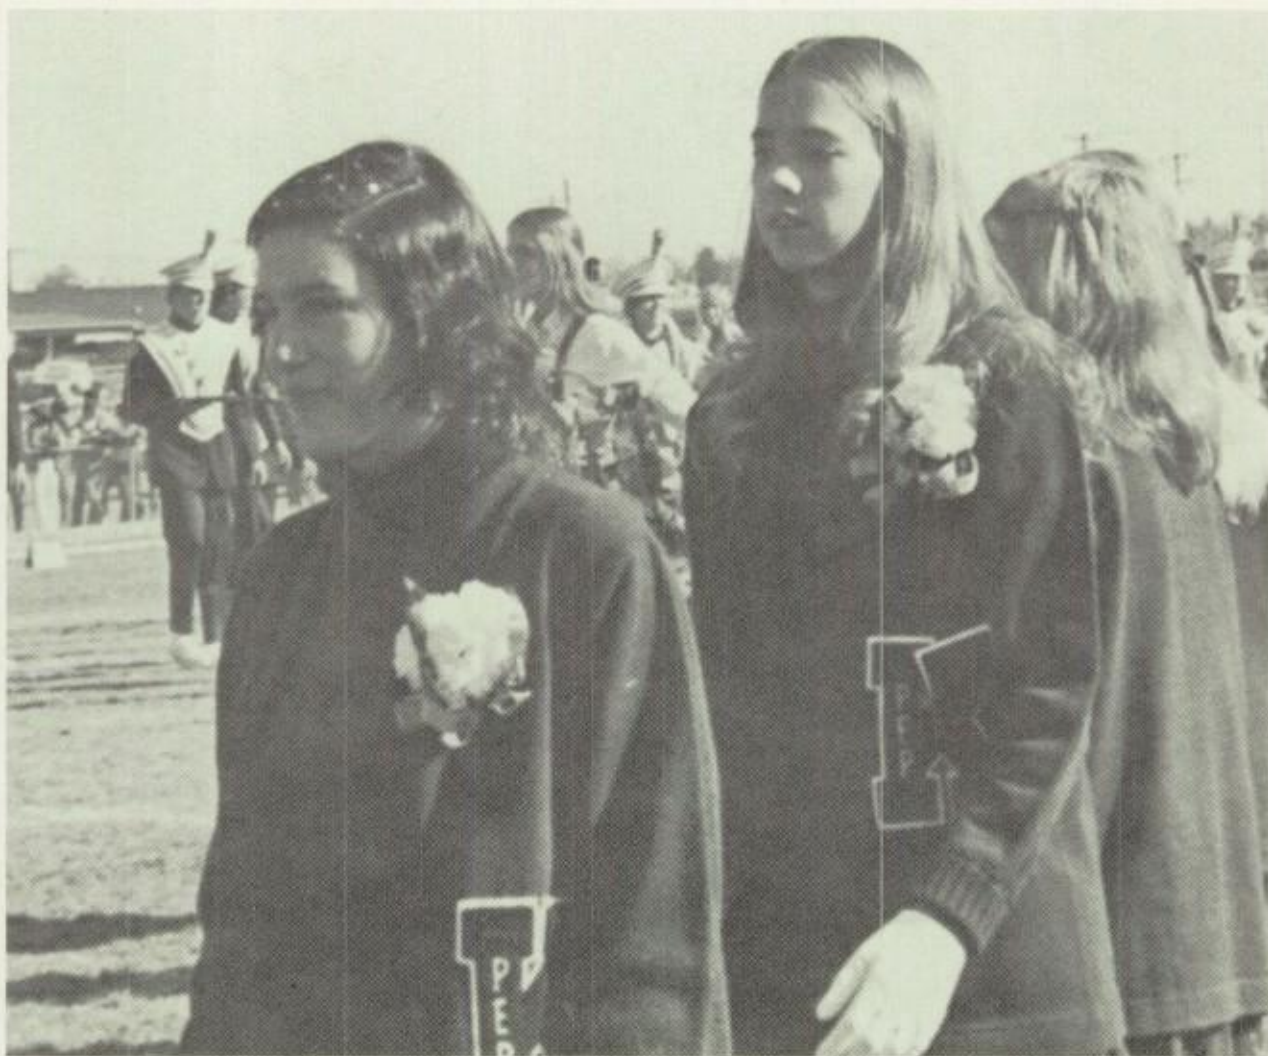

We're behind you teams . . .

With two bits of school pride, four bits of energy, and six bits of enthusiasm, a single person is able to promote some school spirit. Multiply this by 125 and the pep club of Kennedy is formed.

Leading the school in veracious cheers--between popcorn, cokes, and confetti--the pep club showed their Commander power. Excitement rose above the norm due to the excellence in sports activities this year which enabled the inspired group to say with certainty, "We're Commander proud!"

Giving 'em the ole razzmataz

Rising above the prevailing atmosphere of apathy and discontent, high school rah-rah enthusiasm has stood the test of time, and conquered a spot in the JFK limelight.

In keeping with a tradition as American as apple pie, the Kennedy cheerleading squad is given the task of promoting verbal spirit. Although the job sometimes appears to be futile, the pompon girls and cheerleaders bear out the bad times, knowing that along with the hard work and long hours comes a special sense of pride and glory, which makes it all worthwhile.

Golfers take second place

The Kennedy golfers had a good year finishing second behind a strong George Washington team. Led by seniors: Rick Park, Steve Fredericks and Leon Smith, the team defeated all but one of its opponents and finished third in the district tournament. Sophomore Guy Girtin also had an impressive first year. Although several fine golfers will graduate, coach Andres sees the future as bright.

Tough league is frustrating

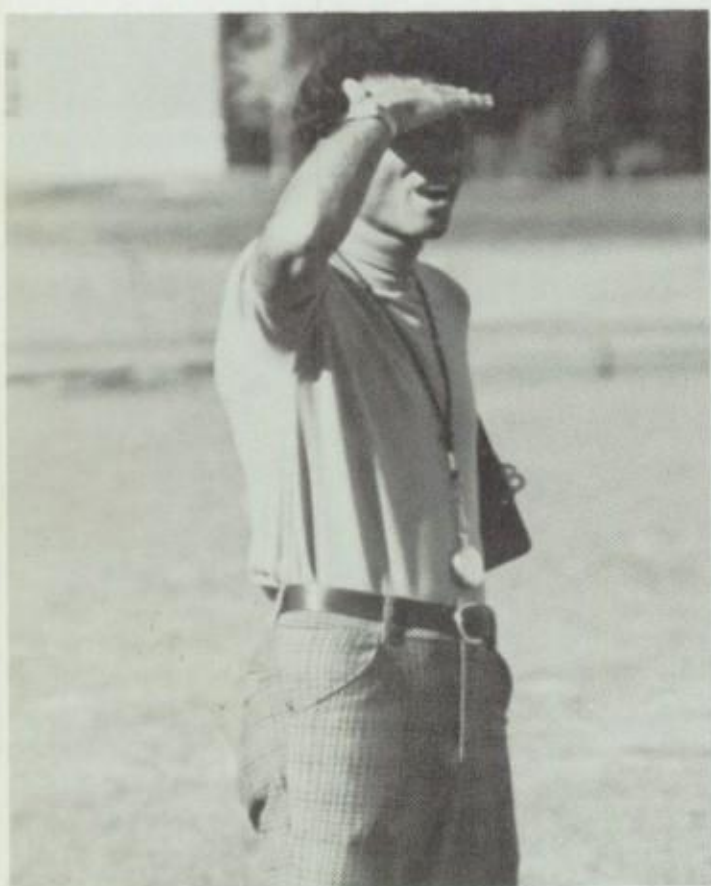

The Commander tennis team had a good season although they finished fifth in an extremely tough Denver League. Steve Kugler, however, finished third in the No. 2 singles competition in the district tournament. Coach Harguth, in his first year as head tennis coach termed the season good, and stated that he was pleased with the performance of several players. With the outstanding leadership of seniors Steve Kugler, captain; John McNutt, John Shurts, Jeff Johnson and Bill Athens, the team gave their opponents an interesting match. Although many good players will be lost to graduation, the '74 team will again be competitive.

Runners stride for perfection

"This year's team was the best I've ever had," said Coach Tom Mauries as the season came to a halt. Led by their outstanding captain, senior, Randy Palmer, the team placed fourth in city, missing third place by only two points.

Setting the pace for the Commanders were juniors, Norm Carlson and Jim Ingwerson. Although the team had a good year this year, they are planning for an even better season next year. Coach Mauries predicts that Kennedy will be one of the toughest teams in state, as there will be twelve returning lettermen.

Norm Carlson, who placed high in all meets, had to be the team's outstanding runner and will lead the team next year. The other runners who made up the backbone of this strong Commander team were: Russ DeGering, Keith Erickson, Dave Shelley and Joe Vigil.

B-team shows good potential

With a strong team effort and a lot of practice, the B-Squad cross country team showed the traditional Commander spirit in their running this year.

Members of the B team were: Dave Erickson, Charles Hendrickson, Dave Clute, Jeff Protsman, Greg Plate, Joe Norris, Rick Santos, Mark Rodie and Mick Will.

Running mostly during half-time of the football games of South, this year's squad had an excellent season. The team placed first in the city meet, and ended up third in the district. With all the team members earning their letters this year, next year's varsity team should be stronger and ready to run for their first city championship.

Sophomores had a great season

Having the best season in JFK history, the sophs finished with a near perfect record of 8 wins and 1 loss. Led by quarterback Brett Johnson and Jay McKim, the offense scored 266 points in total. The Commander defense, led by Randy Hamberg and Bobby Dunst, allowed only 32 points to be scored all year. "We are all very proud of this year's team and their results," said coach English. "It's been the best team I've ever coached. They're a lot of dedicated young men who should help the varsity a lot next year," the coach concluded.

B-squad plays tough football

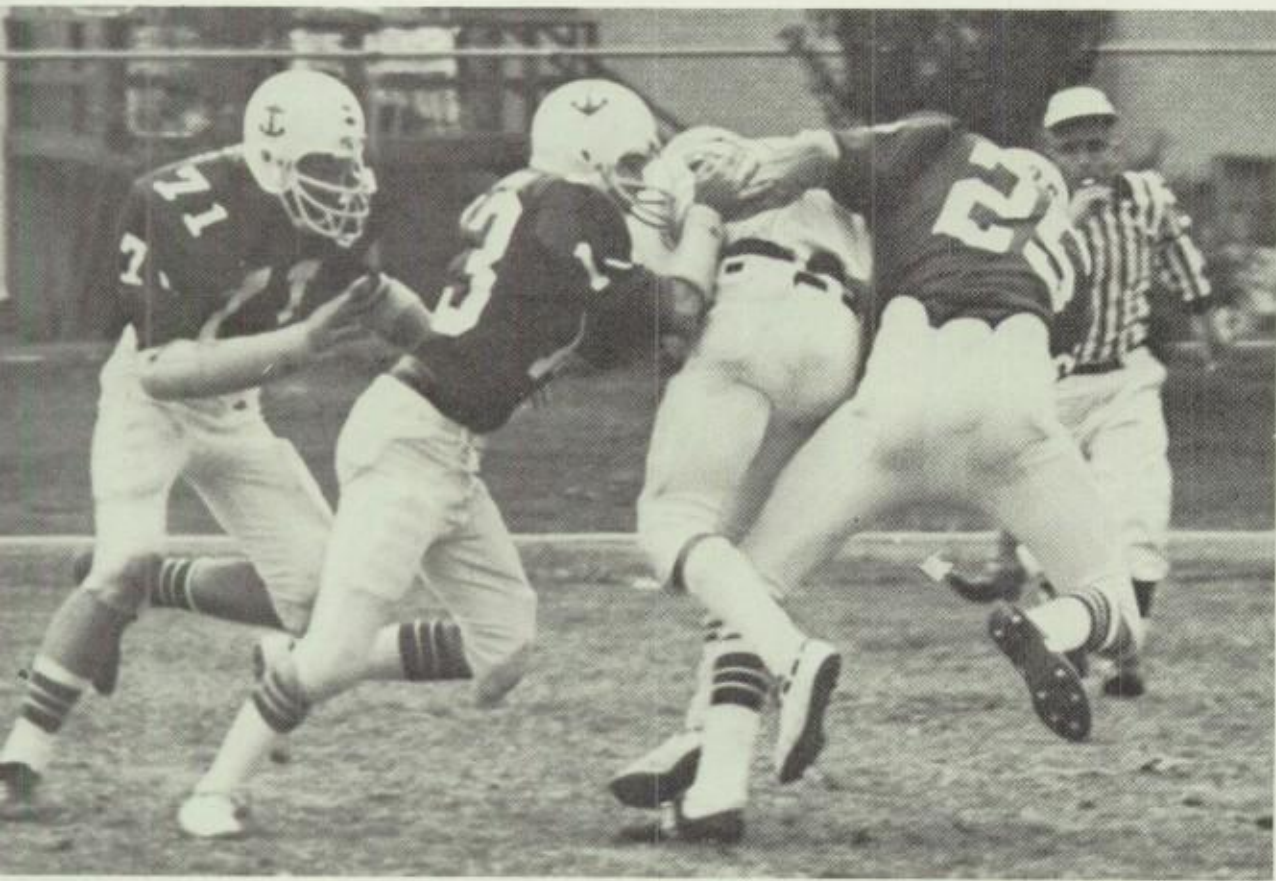

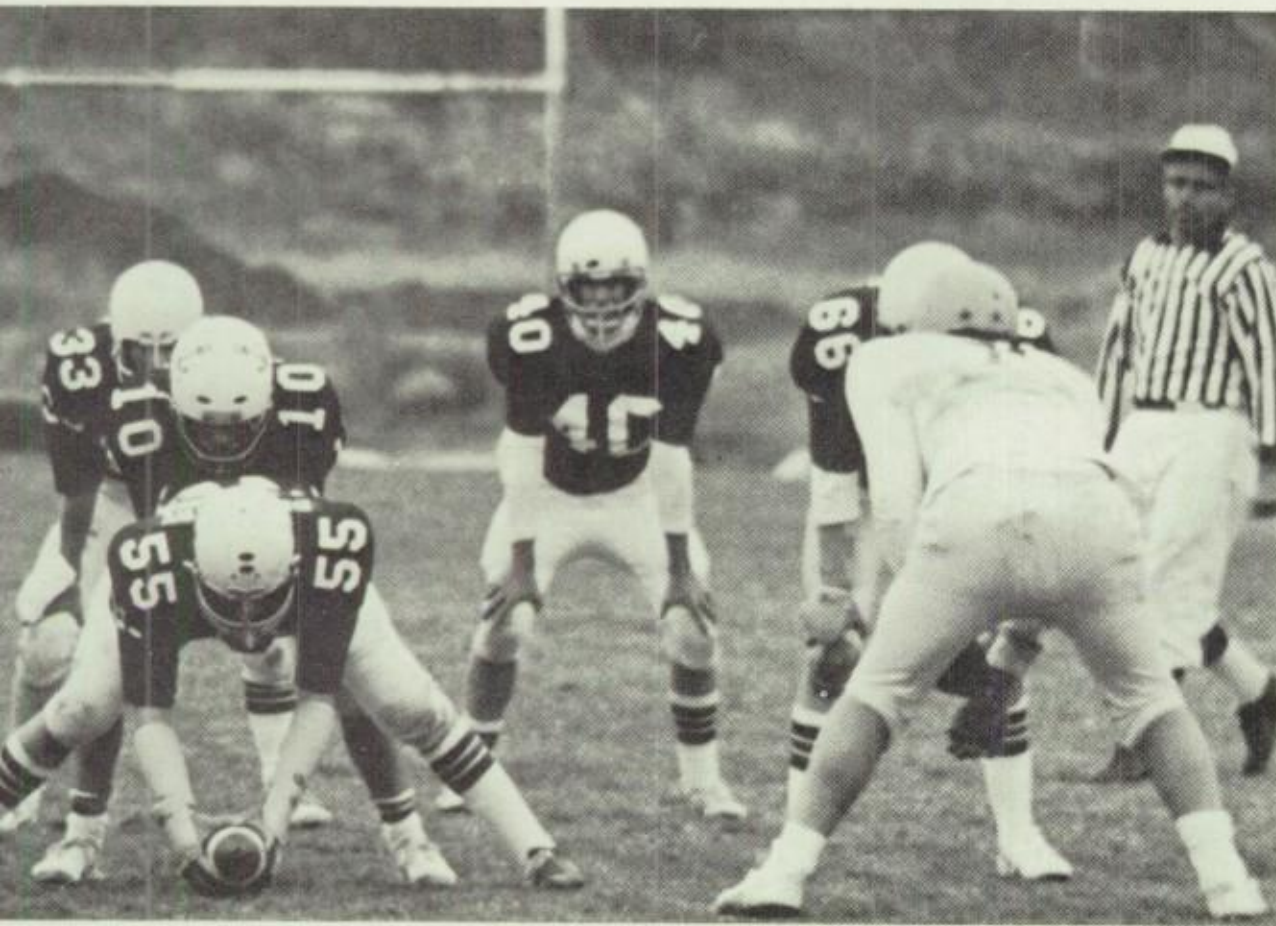

The Commander B-Squad football team, lead by coach DelMargo, posed an impressive 9-0-1 record with the only blemish coming in a 0-0 tie with Thomas Jefferson. Competition for varsity positions was keen and many players saw varsity action. Some of the players who had a good B-Squad season were: Mike Augustine, Bill Daniels, Brent Shaffer, Brian McCullough, Bill Hansen, Steve Murphy, Jamie Flansburg and Bill Spelic.

Good, sound football was the basis for the team's success and many of these players will make the foundation on which coach DiTolla will build next year's varsity team.

Kennedy vies for city title.

Since Kennedy opened, the football team has progressively improved with this year's team reflecting this upward trend by posing the best record yet, nine wins and one lose. Many had picked the team to take the city championship, however this goal was not reached, but the year was still impressive. Such perennial powerhouses as Thomas Jefferson and George Washington fell to the tough, aggressive Commanders and their only defeat came in the final game showdown with undefeated South.

Defense was the name of the game as Kennedy allowed its opponents few, if any, points. This hard-hitting unit was lead by Mike Delmonico, while a fine offense was headed by the running of Vince Wade and Mike McLellan.

Many fine athletes were included on this year's squad, five of whom earned all-city honors. Positions on this all-city team went to: Mike Delmonico, Doug Kiley, Lance McKelvy, Mike McLellan and Vince Wade.

JFK 13 LINCOLN 7

As, is the case every year, the tradional game with Lincoln is always a close, exciting, hard hitting affair. The score shows how close the game was, as a good Lincoln team gave the Commanders all that they wanted.

JFK 23 EAST 13

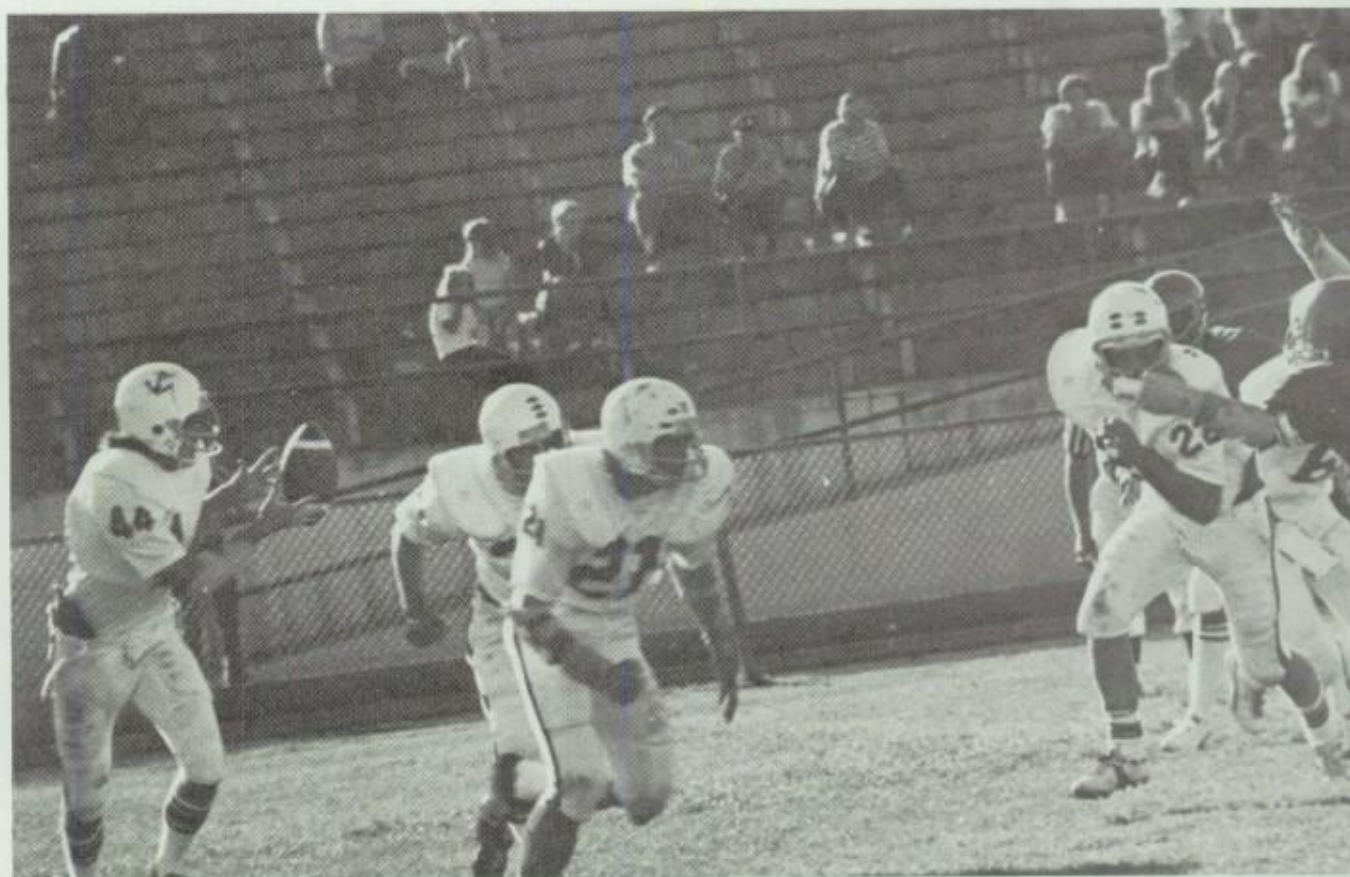

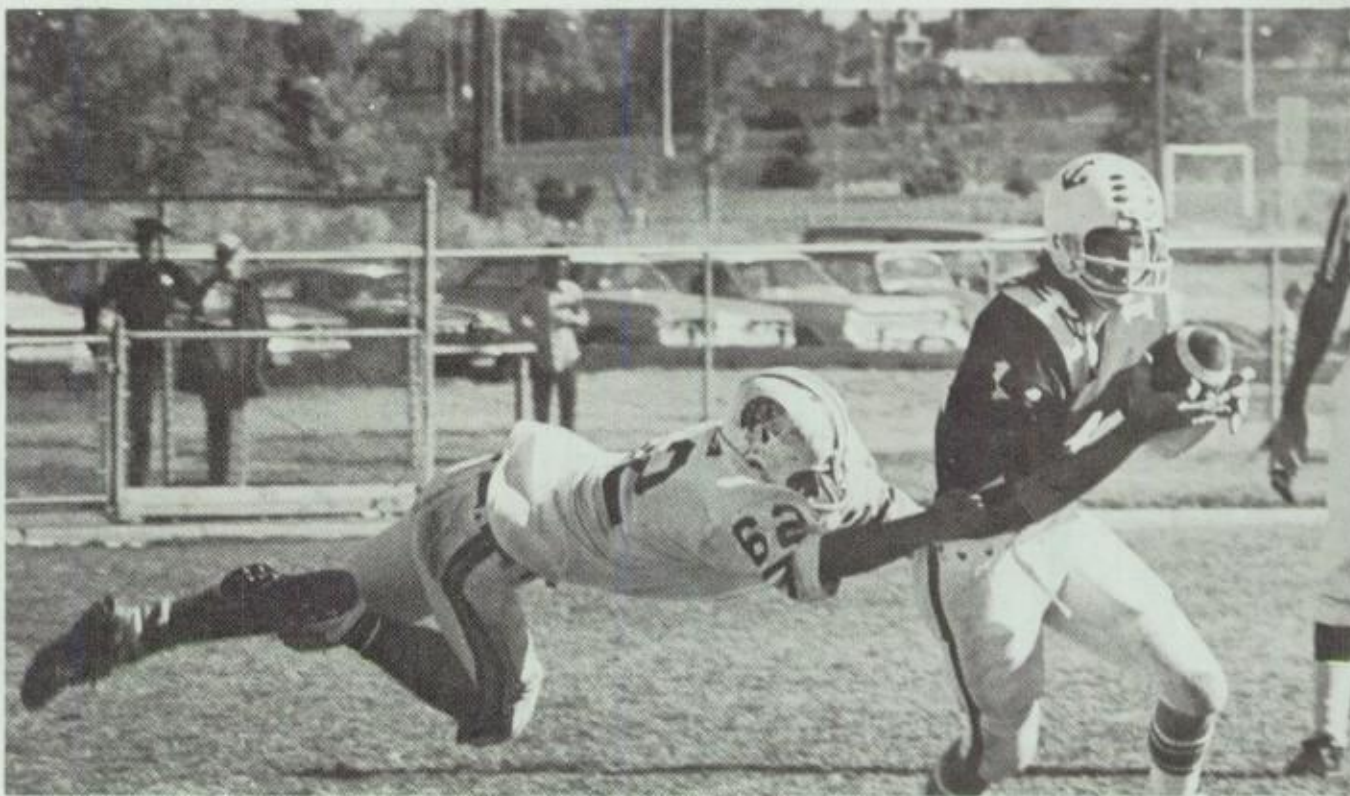

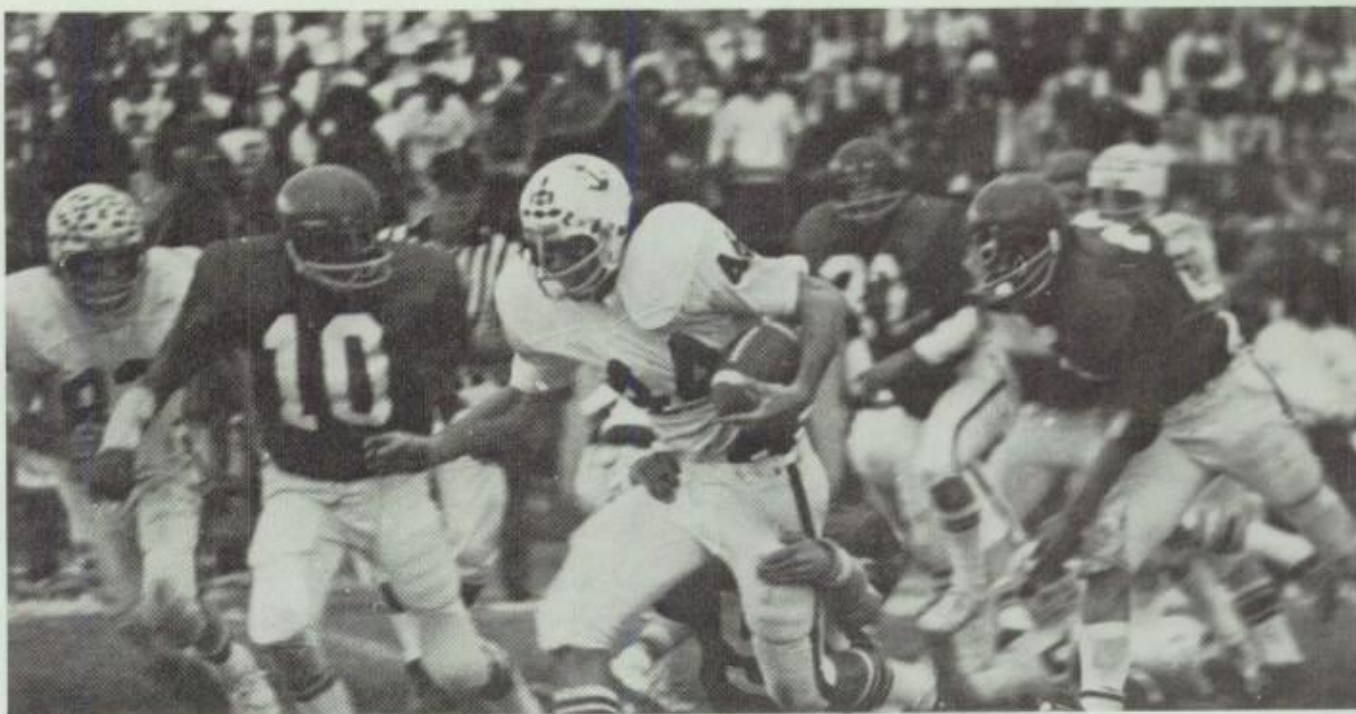

The Commanders somewhat underestimated East's capabilities as the Angles played tougher than was expected. But Kennedy's strength prevailed.

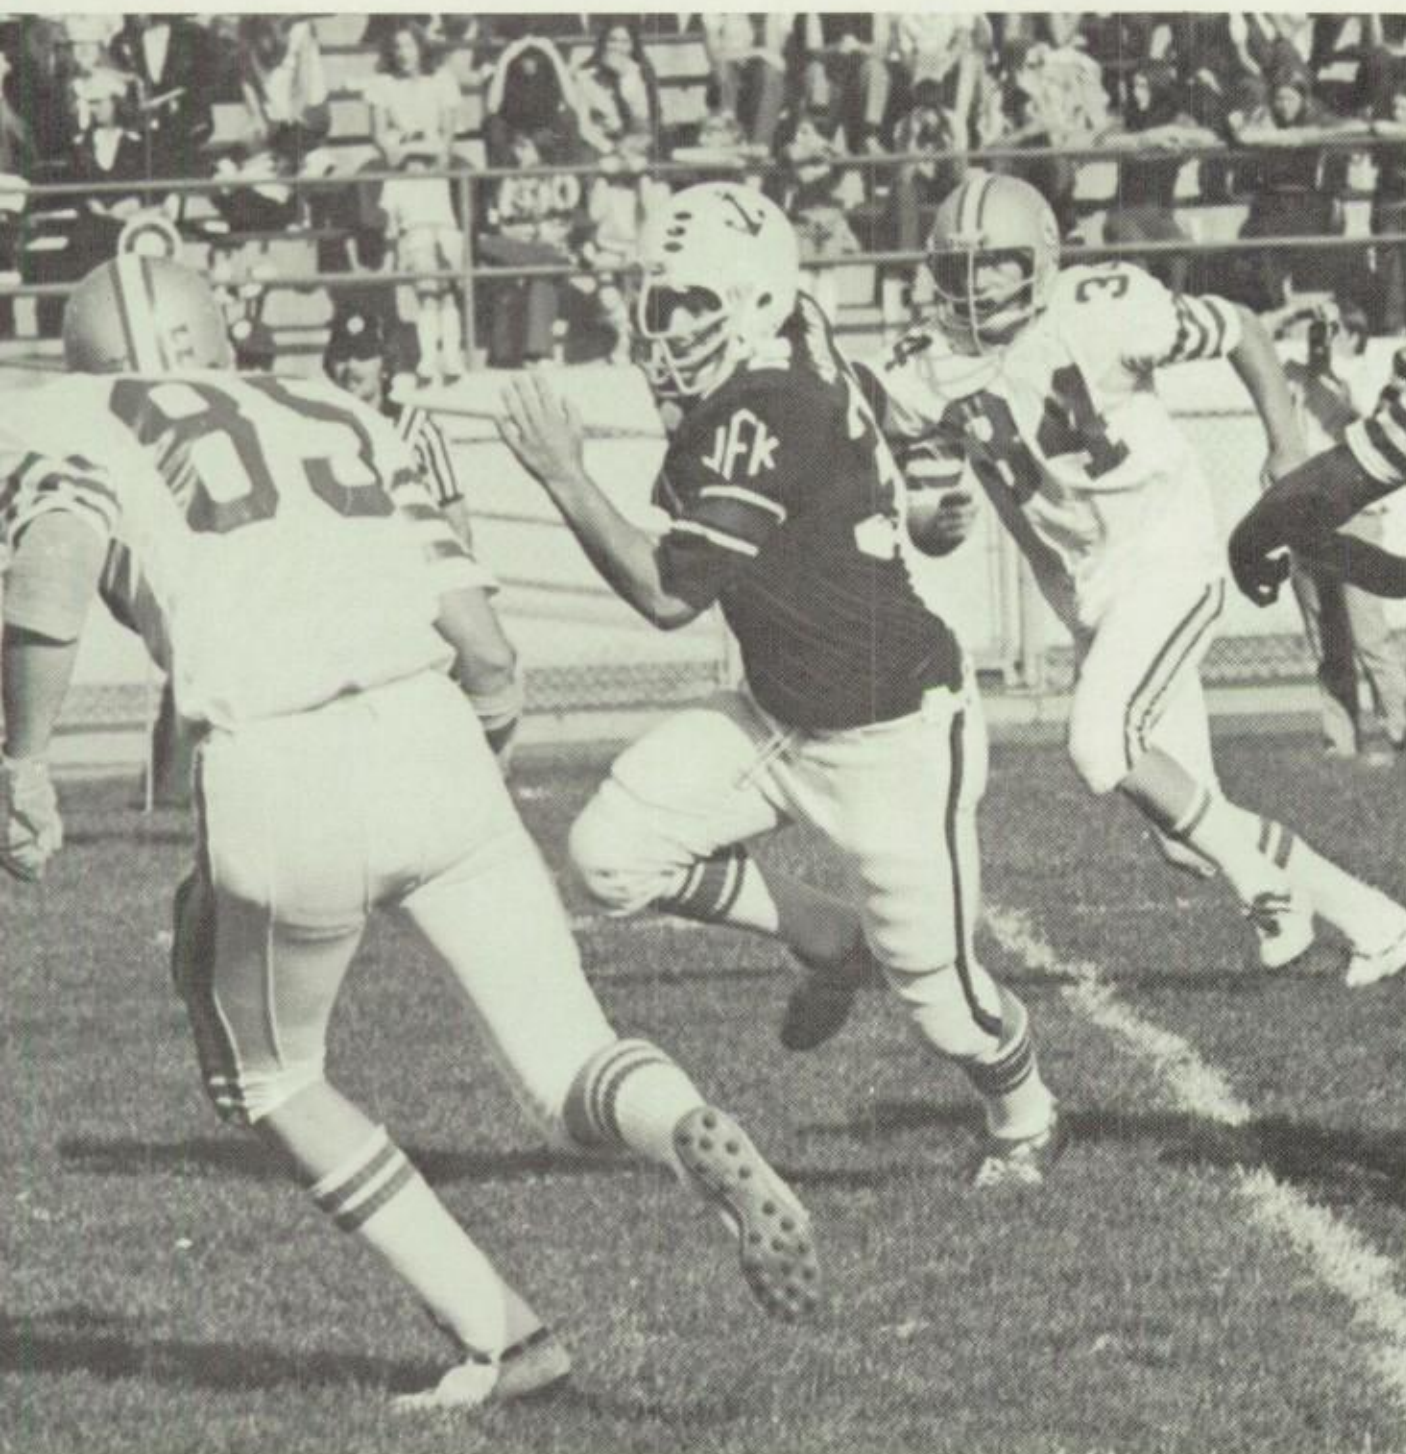

JFK 27 MANUAL 0

The offense got untracked and the defense played tough as the Commanders overcame some slopy play to rout the Thunderbolts.

JFK 44 WEST 8

The score says it all as an undermanned Cowboy team met its match with an alert Comamnder team. Turnovers turned into scores as the Commanders seemed to be everywhere the ball was.

JFK 23 TJ 6

The Commanders played one of their best games of the year in defeating a tough TJ team. It was a must win and the Commanders came through with an important victory.

JFK 30 GW 18

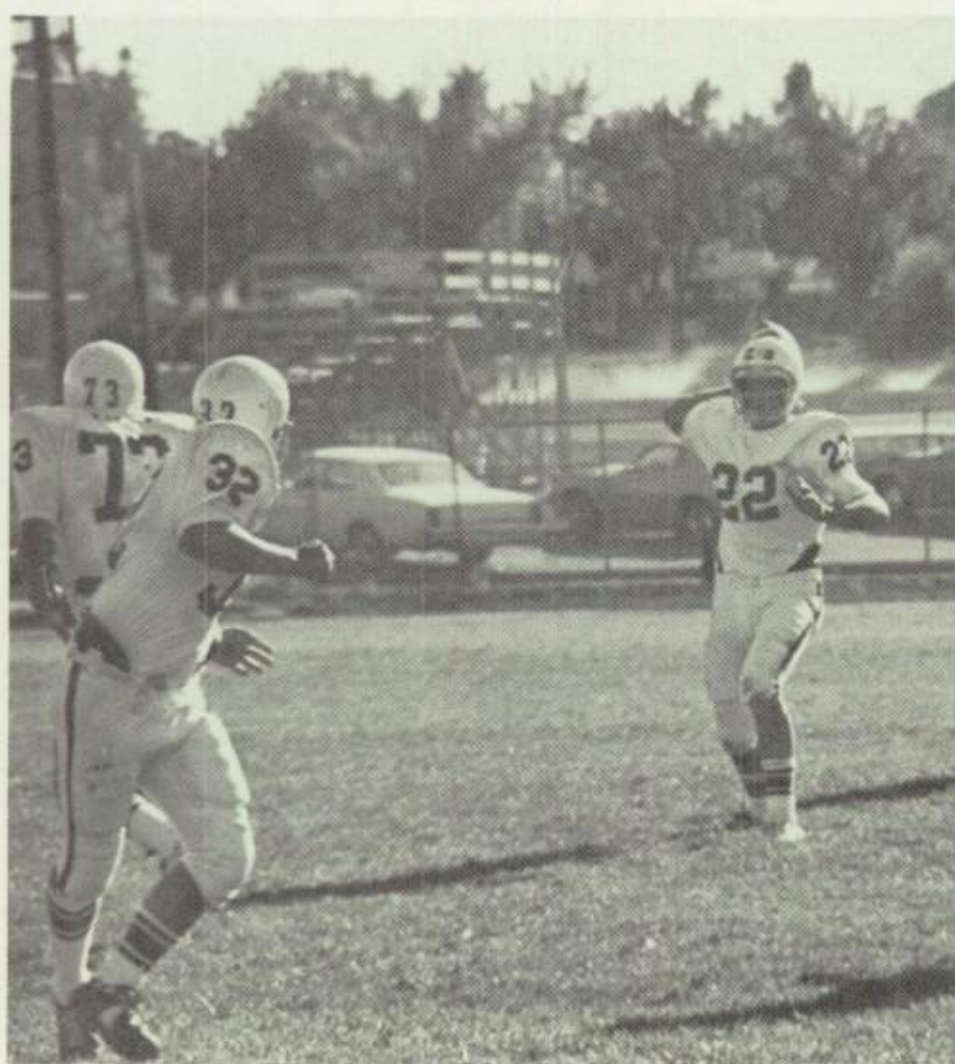

The Commanders once again rose to the occasion as they played their finest game of the season against the defending champion GW. Aside from a couple of "gift" touchdowns, Kennedy was in the complete control of the vital game.

JFK 12 NORTH 7

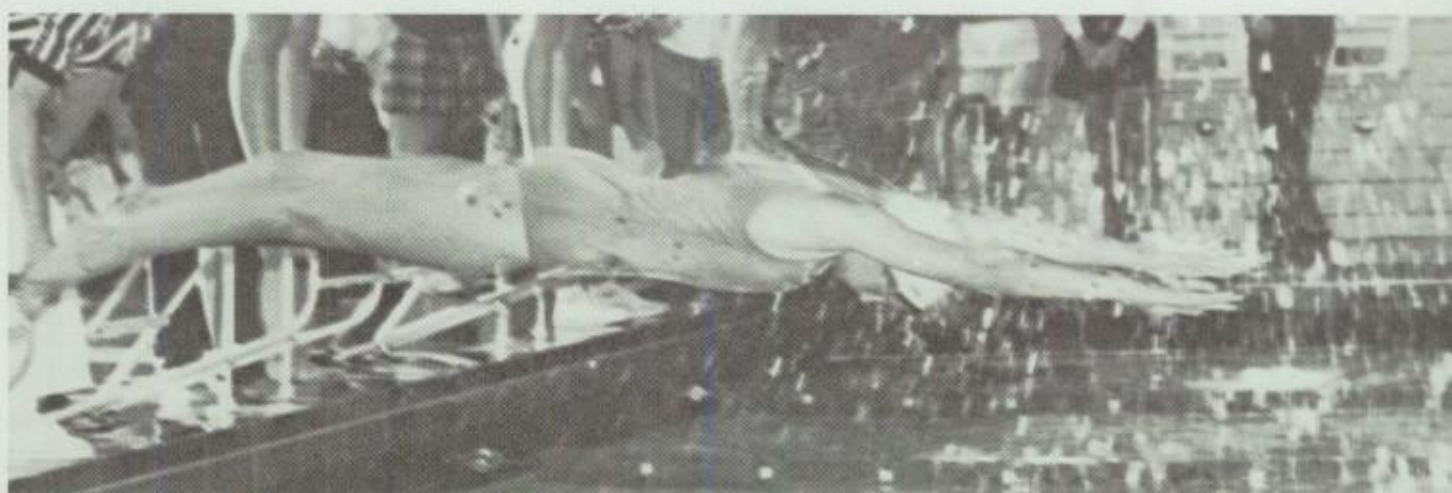

As in the past, North was a tough foe to beat as the Commanders almost lost in a poorly played game. Only an excellent game by the defense thwarted North's upset bid.

SOUTH 21 JFK 7

It was a showdown between the two undefeated teams of the league. Over 5,000 people jammed into the South stadium to see the Commanders commit several costly errors which South capitalized on to win the game and the championship. For Kennedy, they could only wait for next year.

Quality was the factor

A strong team of about 25 girls composed this years girls swim team, coached by Mrs. Walters and assisted by Miss Alexander. The girls practiced hard every night and developed the speed and skill necessary for strong competitive swimming.

Working hard for a second in City, the team took many places, including six first places. Several records were broken, two of which were by sophomore, Margot Toren. Having qualified by their speed, many JFK swimmers participated in State competition.

The years ahead for this young team are promising. However this year, many returning swim team members include seniors Gina DeBell, Kim McKee, Debbie McKeon and Mary Toren, added the benefit of experience to the quality of the team.

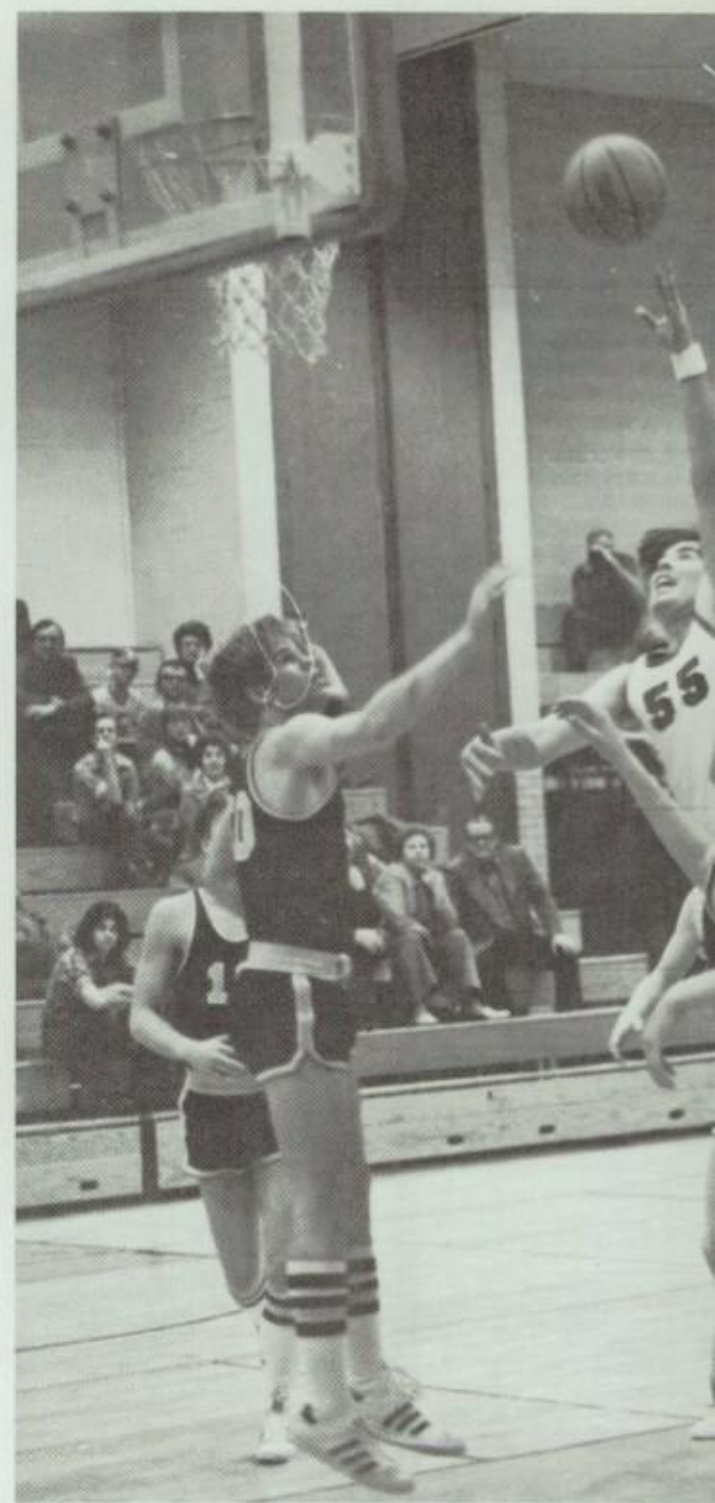

They won some but lost a lot

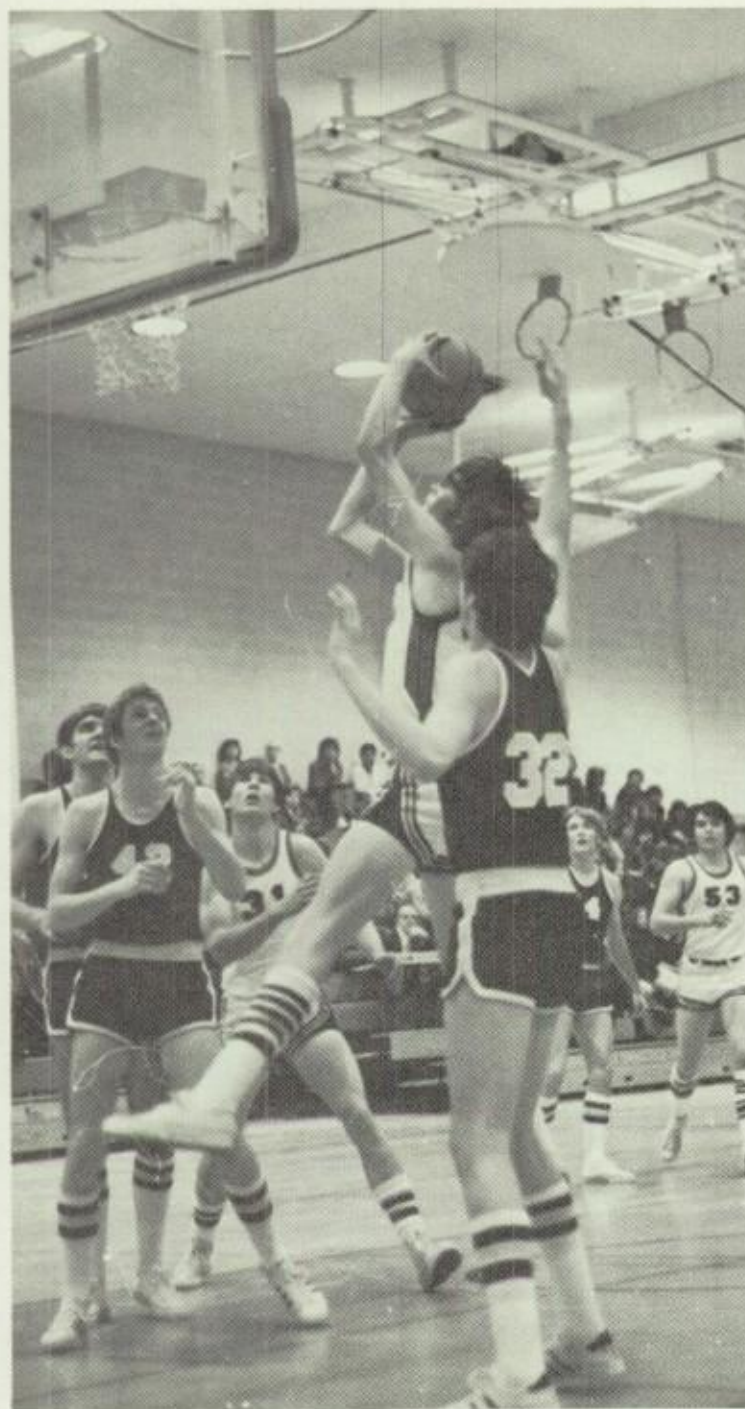

The varsity basketball season can be termed as long, since victories were few and far between. The disappointing showing cannot be blamed on lack of hustle, for whenever the ballplayers were on the court, they gave 100 per cent effort.

Although the seniors did a respectable job, Coach Sandstedt had his eyes on the future and intergrated many younger players into the line-up. This gave the younger players a chance to gain varsity experience they will need next year.

Ballplayers who had good seasons included seniors, Steve Fredericks, Doug Kiley, Steve Kugler and Mike McLellan; juniors, Tom Ramsey and Russ Strecker and sophomores, Mike Edwards and Jay McKim.

J.V. has the best basketball year

The Commander's Junior Varsity basketball team had a very good year. They completed the season with a record of 10 wins and 7 loses and coach DiTolla attributed his team's success to excellent teamwork and hustle.

Sophomore Mike Edwards lead the team in scoring while Tom Ramsey and Zelwoud Head also ranked high in this department. Although teamwork was a dominant factor in this year's play, others such as Tim Mueller, Scott Yates and Jay McKim also had a good year.

Sophs hopefully gain experience

Coach Gammil's sophomore basketball team had a tough season, winning only 2 non-league games over Littleton and Columbine. Time devoted to supporting team

Behind the scenes, eight girls worked steadily for one of Kennedy's most outstanding athletic teams. Aiming to fulfill their purpose of allowing Coach Knaub more time to train J.F.K.'s wrestlers, the Mat Maids deserve credit for the many services they lended. Acting as doctors, seamstresses, bookkeepers, and organizers they devoted much time to helping the wrestlers as well as letting them know they had the Mat Maid's support. Again, the season was successful.

Winning has become tradition

With the guidance of Coach Knaub, the Commander wrestlers took their fifth consecutive city championship this year. Showing strength and unity throughout the season, this year's varsity team also went on to capture the fifth district championship title.

Though there were a few rough moments for the team at the state tournament, Kennedy can truly be proud of it's first state champion, Rusty Berry. Other outstanding wrestlers this year included: seniors, Bob Messer, Randy Palmer, captain Mike Will, Keith Erickson, Bruce DeGering, captain Lance McKelvy, Mike Delmonico; and juniors, Dave Erickson, Rick Kelsic.

The team, undefeated in dual meets for 2 straight years, has made winning a "Commander wrestling tradition".

Stud B-squad strikes again

The B-squad wrestling team went undefeated this year for the second year in a row having a season of 11 wins, no losses and 2 ties. Coach Andres works hard at building character and strengthening the skills necessary for good wrestling. While gaining mat experience and self-confidence, the wrestlers of the B-squad play an important roll. Acting as an emergency back-up team for the varsity and working out with the varsity, the B-squad will be an asset for next year's varsity team.

Swimmers exceed previous records

Swimming is one of the up and coming sports at Kennedy. Under the direction of Coach Hadley, the team had its best season ever with a record of 6 wins and 2 losses. In the city meet the Commanders placed 4th.

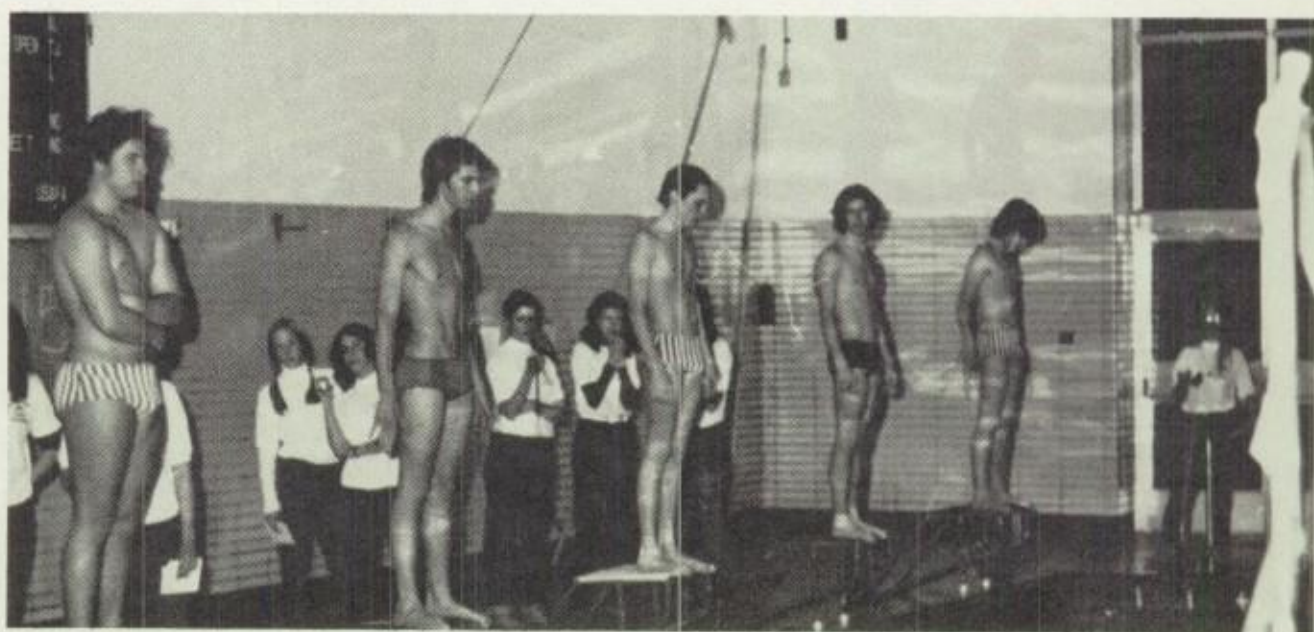

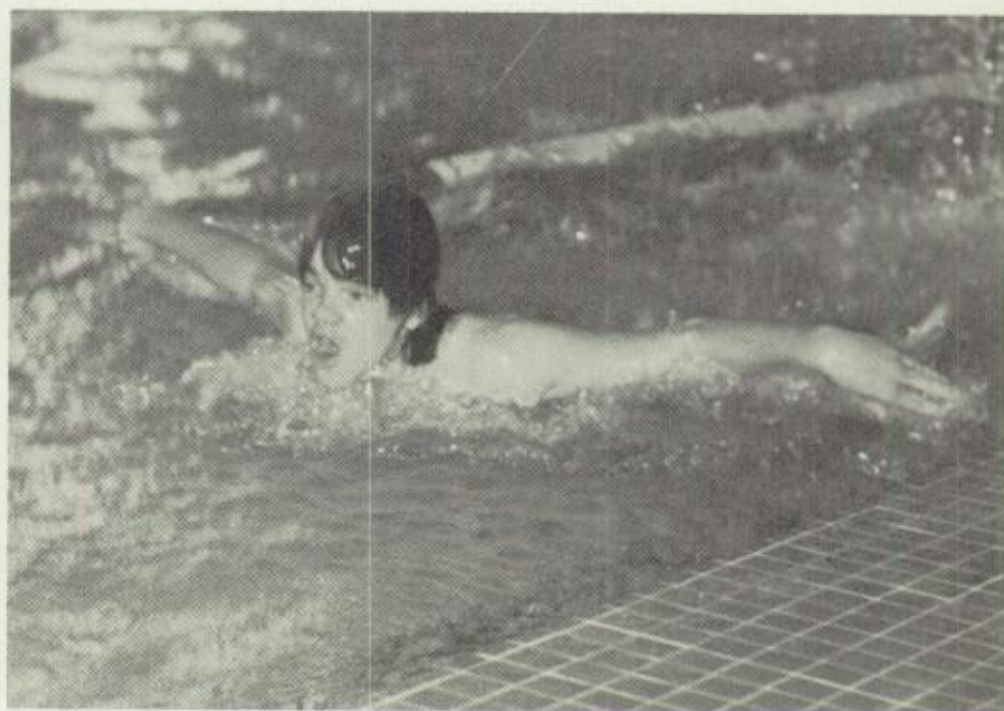

Composed of 20 versatile swimmers the team was a tough competitor. Advancing to state competition were: divers, Brian Anderson and Jeff Johnson; swimming "fly"; Dennis Casey, and a 500 yard free relay team consisting of Rick Carey, Dennis Casey, Greg Emarine and John Hudson. Although 9 swimmers will graduate, many talented juniors and sophomores will be the backbone of next year's team.

Dignity with determination

With the combination of skill and determination, the Girls' Gymnastics team composed of about 40 girls, completed their first undefeated season. Under the watchful eyes of coach, Miss Moore and asst. coach, Miss Meserve, the team took first in City, placed 13 competitors in District and had two qualify for the State meet.

Events included balance beam, uneven parallel bars, floor exercise and vaulting. Each member was allowed to enter as many events as they wanted. Those participating in everything were known as "all-around" competitors.

There were six of the team members in this category.

The team was well represented in all levels of competition. Highlighting the season was having sophomore, Jill Knaub and senior Jan Fjeldheim go to State. Representing the team at her best, Jill placed second all-around in the elite (advanced) division in the State meet.

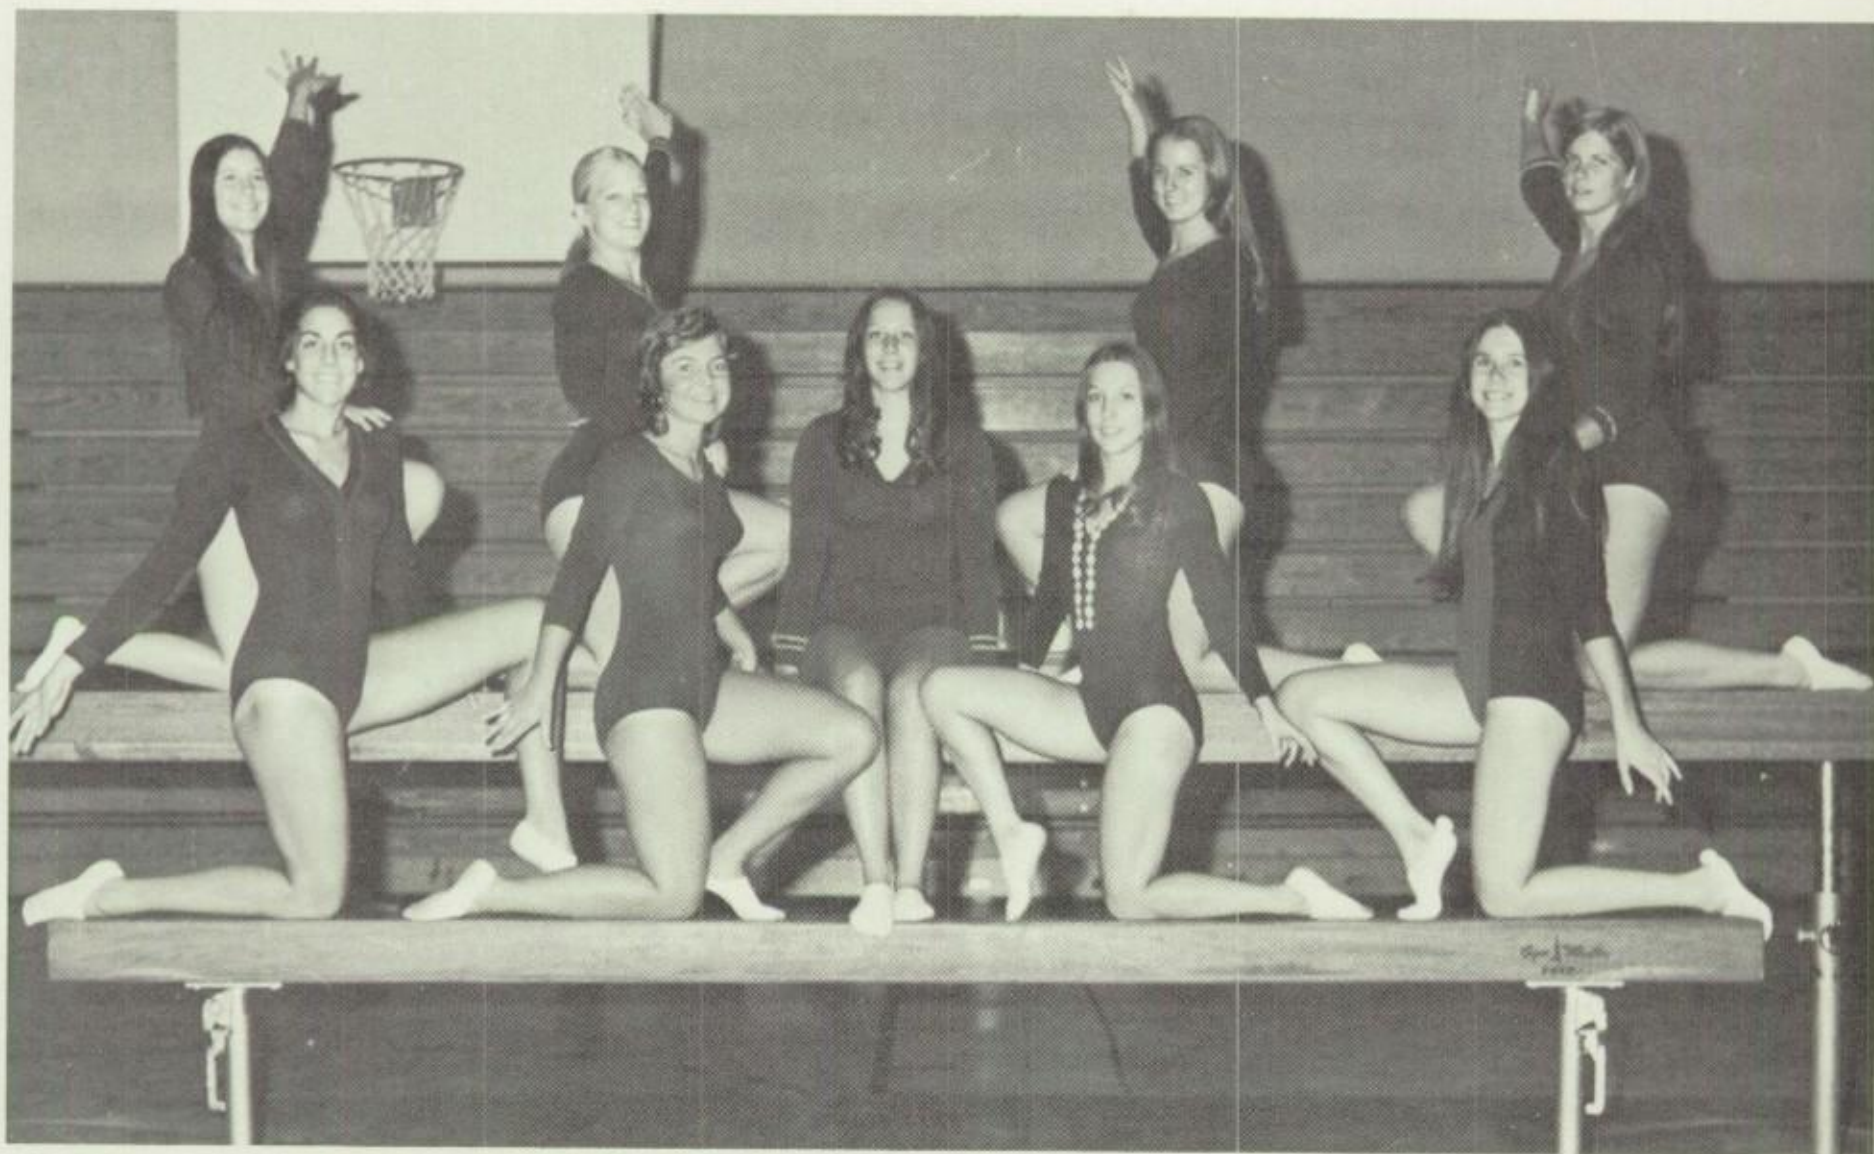

Team captain, JoDi Johnson, organized routine practices and working conditions which resulted in over 175 awards during the entire season.

Being the largest gymnastics team that JFK has had, it consisted of 10 seniors, 12 juniors and 17 sophomores. The future looks rewarding for next year's returning gymnasts.

A new team with an important job

What does a coach do if he wants to promote a little more enthusiasm and drive in his all-male swim team? The answer is simple; he adds a little female help, and that is just what Coach Hadley did this year. He gathered together a group of enthusiastic girls, named them the Mermaids, handed them stopwatches, and gave them the official job of swim team timers.

The girls have added a little extra spirit and organization to the swim team this year, as well as doing a very important job. They may have even started a new tradition at Kennedy.

Come Touch The Sun

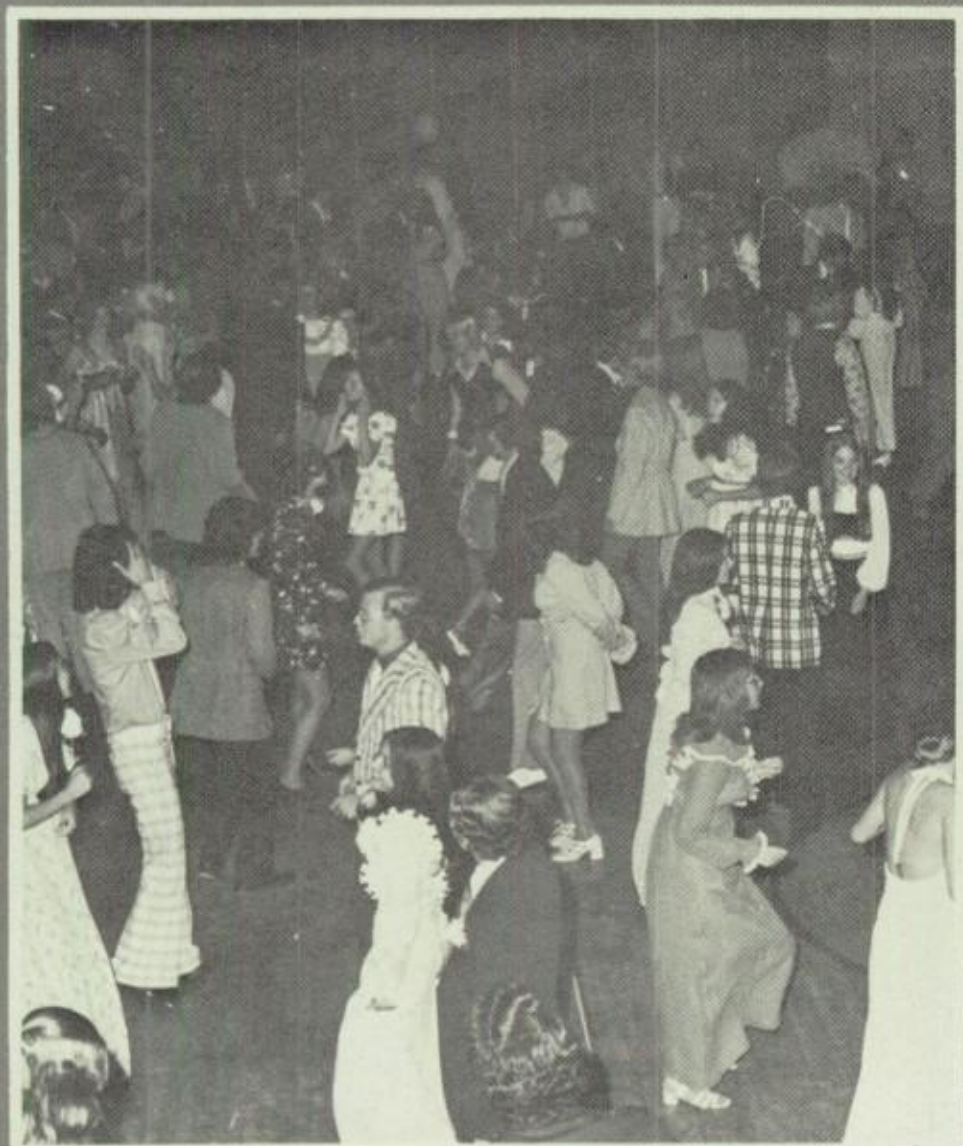

"Come Touch The Sun" proved to be an appropriate theme for Homecoming 1973 as the football team continued its climb to the top by a victory over George Washington. Due to the Commander's victory, everyone's spirits were high at the dance. Football players talked about the game, alumni talked about old times, and everyone looked to see who came with whom.

The gym was decorated in colors of orange and yellow with floats made by German, Italian, French, and Spanish clubs. A vote was taken and German club's beer mug won first place.

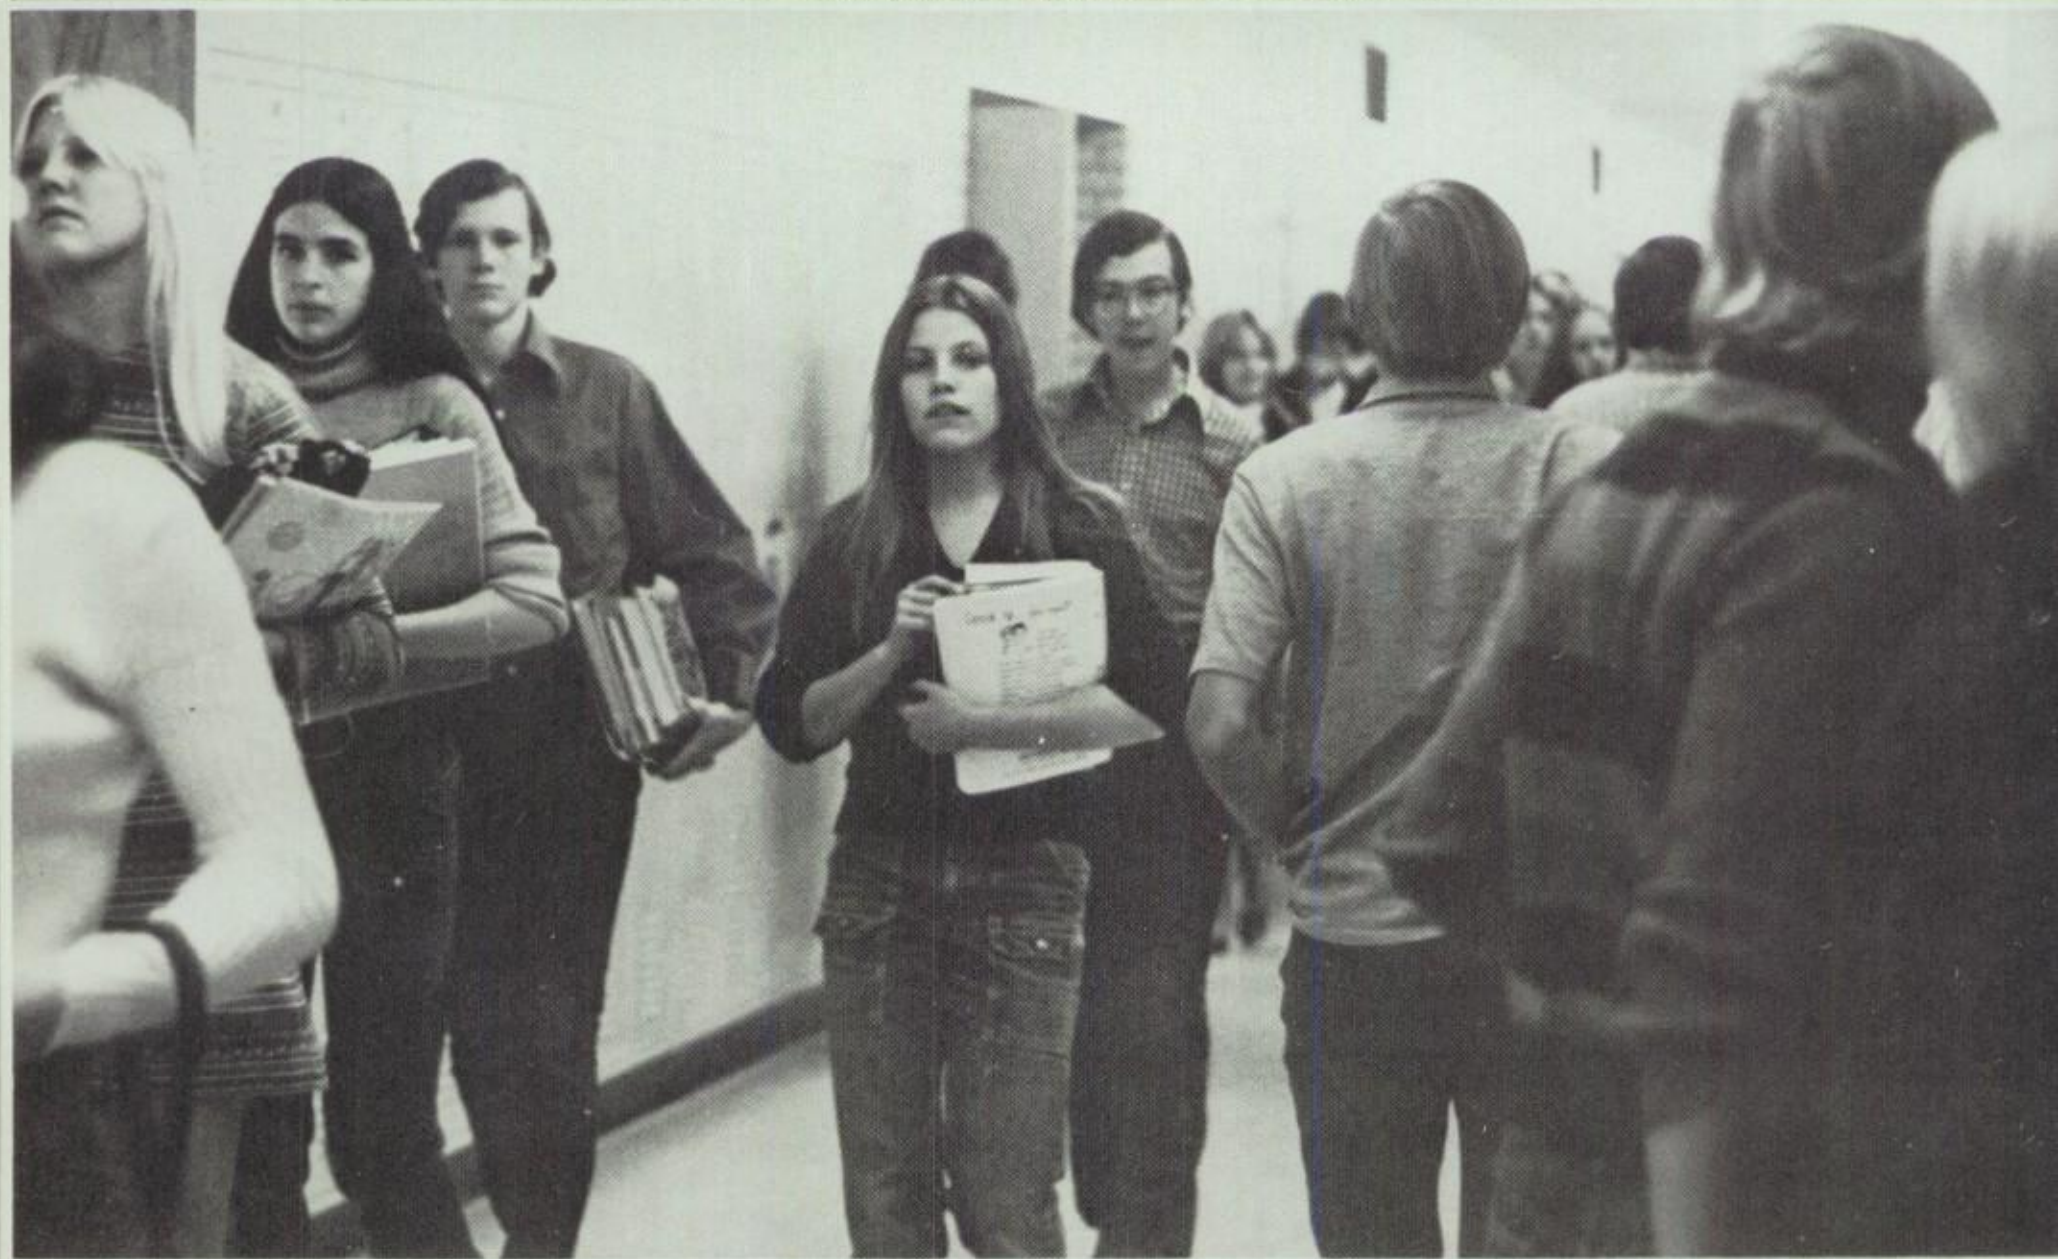

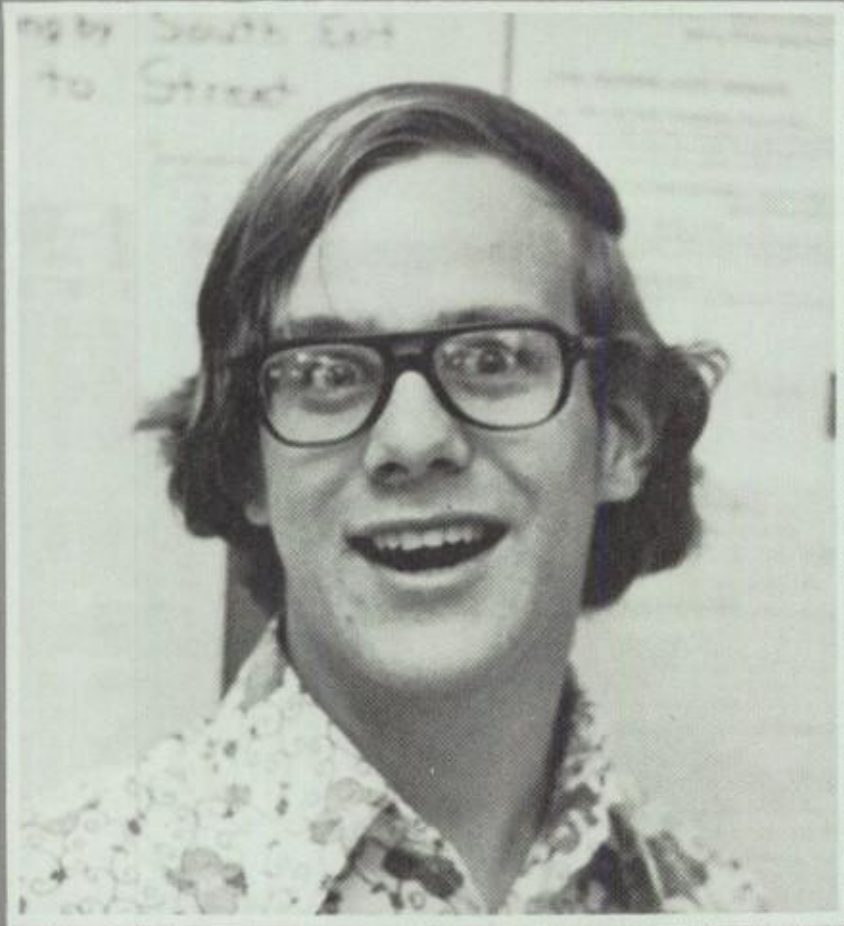

Music was provided by "Morgan". Vince Wade and Jamie Elliot reigned as King and Queen with attendants Karyn Brughelli, Tracy Holland, Jo-Di Johnson, and Mike McLellan.

ACTIVITIES

Kick-off starts season out right

It was an exciting day for Kennedy Commanders on September 14, when everyone participated in Kick-off '73.

The day began in the auditorium with a pep rally. Each coach introduced their team and cheers were led by cheerleaders and pompon girls.

An arousing victory over Lincoln awakened tremendous spirit in the Commanders which carried over to that evening for the victory dance. Music was provided by "Rale" and dancing was undertaken by both teachers and students. Commander attendance was higher than usual making the whole day a huge triumph.

Upper: Cross-country was ready for another competitive year. Center: gymnastics team was introduced at pep rally. Lower: Pat Mitchell and Jim Greichen show their spirit.

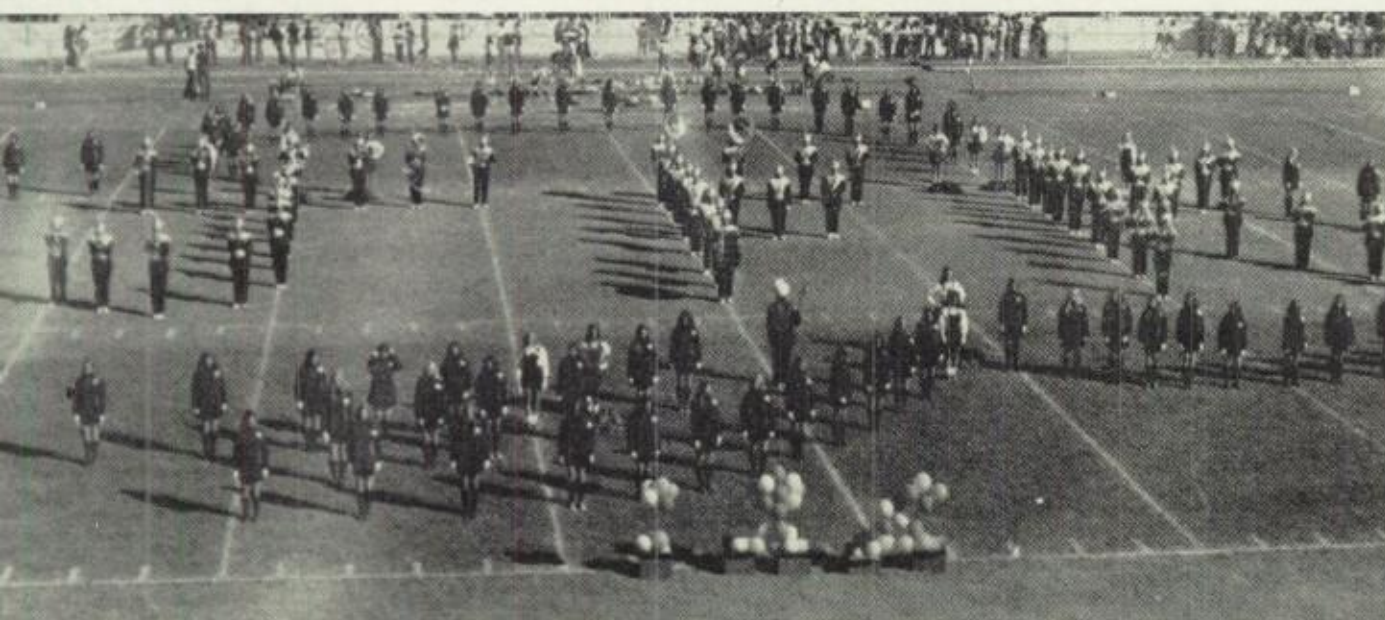

Homecoming "73" glowing success

Alumni, halftime, and cheering united in a winning combination to make Homecoming '73 the best in many years. The Commanders commenced with a pep rally where it was announced that a faculty pep club had been formed.

Alumni and faculty made up a large part of the enthusiastic crowd at the football game, many of whom had followed the bus down in a caravan of cars decorated with posters and blue and green streamers.

Fans cheered a highly motivated team to a 21-7 lead over George Washington at the half. Kennedys' improved offensive game in the second half led to a final 30-18 victory.

Halftime activities began with the band and pep club forming a large foot to honor GW's mascot, the Jolly Green Giant. The theme of "Come Touch The Sun" was illustrated by the forming of the sun, and as a final formation, the pep club formed a shamrock as the band played the fight song. Pep club members formed a spirit line to cheer the team back on the field as the band played "Anchors Aweigh."

Our year for North Central

Every seven years each Denver High School must be accredited by the North Central Association. This year was J.F.K.'s turn and that meant an enormous amount of work for all faculty members. The school in general and each department in particular had to be evaluated. This lasted a month before the North Central Committee was introduced at a banquet on Monday Nov. 5th. For the next two days the Committee visited classrooms to determine how well the teachers had evaluated themselves. It took many hours of effort on the part of many people but now we'll have seven years to rest.

Upper: Mr. Ellsworth, Mrs. Hill, and Mrs. Granchelli discuss possible changes in the Social Studies Department. Center: Greg Williams plays at the banquet. Lower: A Committee member visits a classroom.

Commanders tried something new for Halloween - a square dance. It was sponsored by the senior class and Harry Scott was the caller. Most of the people there had never square danced before and everyone had a good time learning to dosi-do with their corner. This was definitely a group activity. Proof of this are the facts that there were no wall flowers and everyone danced with nearly everyone else, not just with their date. It was group spirit and learning something fun together that made this one of the best dances of the year.

Enthusiasm is aroused at J.F.K.

The week of Nov. 5 offered all Kennedy Commanders the opportunity to take part in the activities of spirit week. Sunday was hall decorating and judging was held on Monday. Seniors won the hall decorating with their theme "Seniors Have Carnival Spirit."

True artistic ability was shown in "Paint the Parking Lot." On Wednesday there was a double feature, first there was a road rally followed by a coffee house with entertainment by a graduate and favorite musician Duncan Tuck. Thursday brought more activities when Don Lewis gave an assembly. Later in the day the boys were taught a new swing in a rousing game of flamingo football.

On Friday there were various contests such as pie eating, chariot races, boxing, tug-o-war and also a pep rally. Finishing out the week on Saturday when Monica Leonard and Kraig Kaven won the jitterbug contest held during the 50's sockhop.

Murder mystery gathers crowd

A who dunit, "Ten Little Indians," by Agatha Christie was the fall production of the drama department. The mystery was set on a small island off the coast of Devon, England. At the opening of the play, ten people are gathered in a house on Indian Island under mysterious pretenses. These ten people, each represented by an Indian figure on the mantelpiece, had all committed an unpunished crime. Starting with Marston, one at a time they were killed. As another person was murdered, another Indian was removed until there was only one.

Christmas is the time for seniors

Traditionally Christmas has been a special time for seniors because it is their last holiday at Kennedy. Seniors are given the main hall to decorate and their involvement in the school really has a chance to shine. This year the class of 74 donated an artificial tree to the school as a reminder in the years to come that they had a concern for the endangered balance in ecology. The spirit of Christmas included lighted halls and decorated windows, but most of all it provided a holiday atmosphere for the school, making the last week before vacation bearable.

Good food, and good friends

The National Honor Society Alumni Tea was held on Wednesday, December 19. The tea was a time for alumni to get reacquainted and to sit down and talk with an old friend about their experiences in the outside world.

Although most of the returning alumni were last years graduates all Kennedy alumni were invited. Also invited were Kennedy administrators, faculty, and National Honor Society members.

With food supplied by faculty and N.H.S. members, the day was a great one for all of Kennedy's returning alumni.

Coffee house to PROFILE drawing

The 1974 PROFILE received a tremendous response from students and faculty. The enthusiasm was started by a Coffee House in October. Entertainment was provided by B. J. Mass and Captain Clank. The spirit was kept up by the anticipation of the drawing in November because of the great prizes. The winners were: Seth Bingham, a seasons pass to Arapahoe Basin; Greg Luby; an AM-FM-CB radio; Monica Leonard, a clock radio; Florence Staneck, a digital clock; Linda Barbour; a Baskin Robbins gift certificate; and Bruce Bush, Mark Oline, and Steve Molloy, McDonalds gift certificates.

Musicians select variety of music

This was a great year for assemblies and one of the best was the presentation by the United States Navy Show Band West. This twenty piece show band played everything from modern jazz to pop and rock to big band. Director of the band was Mike Pesses. Chuck Looper performed a country western comedy routine and his own version of "Tie a Yellow Ribbon." Members of this select group of musicians arrange most of their own music. This assembly was a change from the normal routine and the variety was appreciated.

Upper: Chuck Looper was the western star. Center: The percussion added greatly to the performance. Lower: The band came from San Diego to play this assembly.

My sweetheart has the jitters

Two winter dances livened up the frosty season. The first, aptly titled, "January Jitters," symbolized the winter. It was sponsored by the sophomore class and the Stallions provided the music. The second dance was the traditional Sweetheart dance sponsored by the Red Cross. Many girls took advantage of their once a year opportunity to ask the guy of their choice to the dance. Both dances made the end of the semester drags go away a little faster.

River City comes to Kennedy stage

With trombones blaring and drums crashing the cast of this year's all school show, THE MUSIC MAN, captivated audiences on Thursday, February 28 and Friday, March 1.

The plot commenced when Professor Herold Hill, a con man, played by Tim Nelson, comes to River City, Iowa to start a boys' band. The unsuspecting townfolk accept him as a way to save their children from the evils of the local pool hall. However Miss Marian, the town's librarian and resident music teacher, played by Sue Anderson, poses a very real threat to Hill, since she perceives his plot from the beginning. To the distress of Professor Hill he falls in love with Miss Marian. His feelings get in the way of his plot, but the boys save the day by forming their own band and the story ends happily.

Adding to the story is a bewildered mayor, portrayed by Mark Santo. Mary Orrino took the part of the mayor's confused wife and Sue Hodgkinson played the part of Zaneeta the mayor's giggling daughter. There is also a humorous school board which Hill transforms into a barber-shop quartet. The members of the schoolboard were played by Keith Olsen, Bill Feldman, David Whitmore and Randy Fernandez.

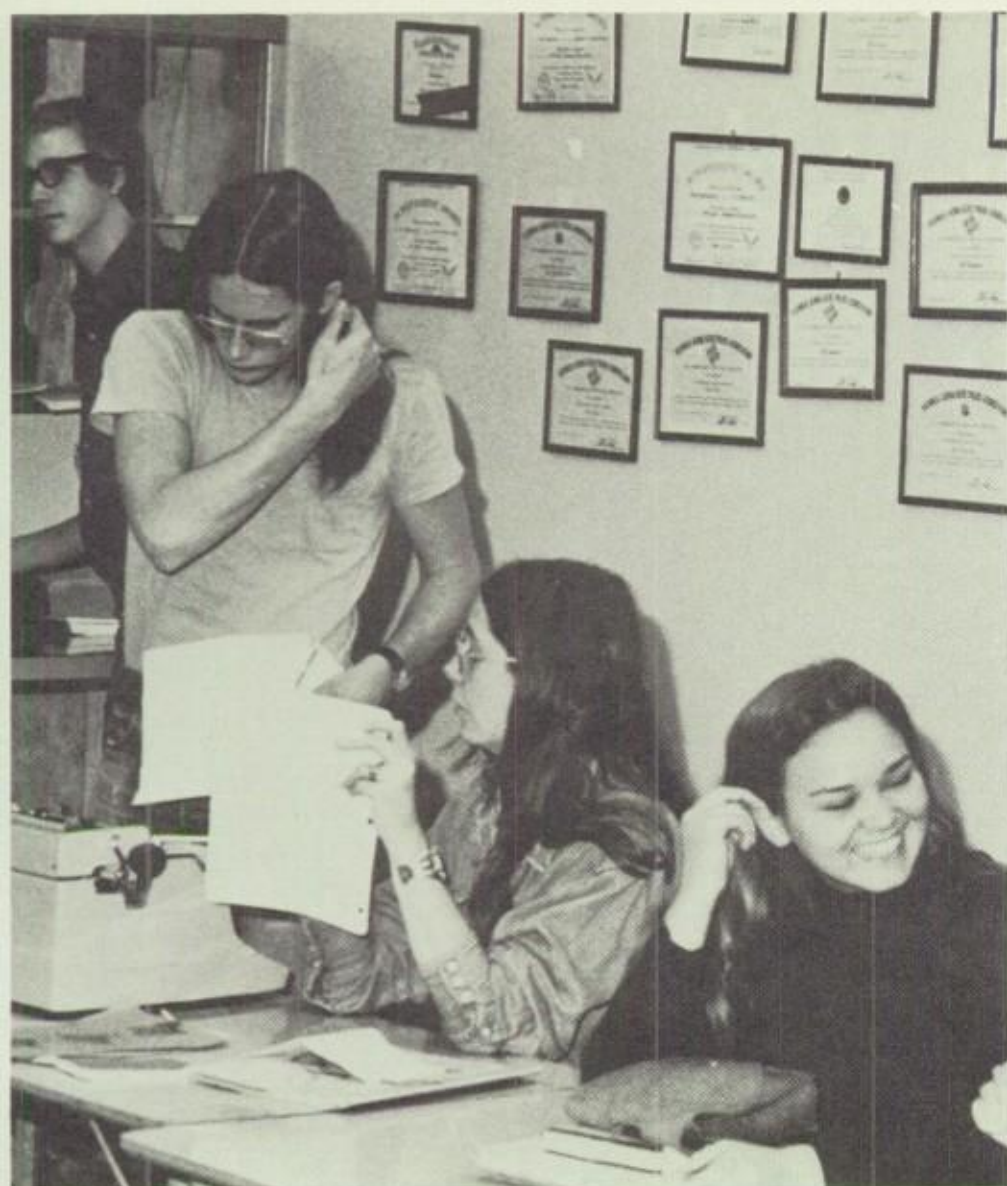

Bouquets not only go to the performers and those who helped backstage, but to the members of the orchestra as well. The combined efforts of all these groups produced a hit show which was very well supported by the student body.

CLASSES

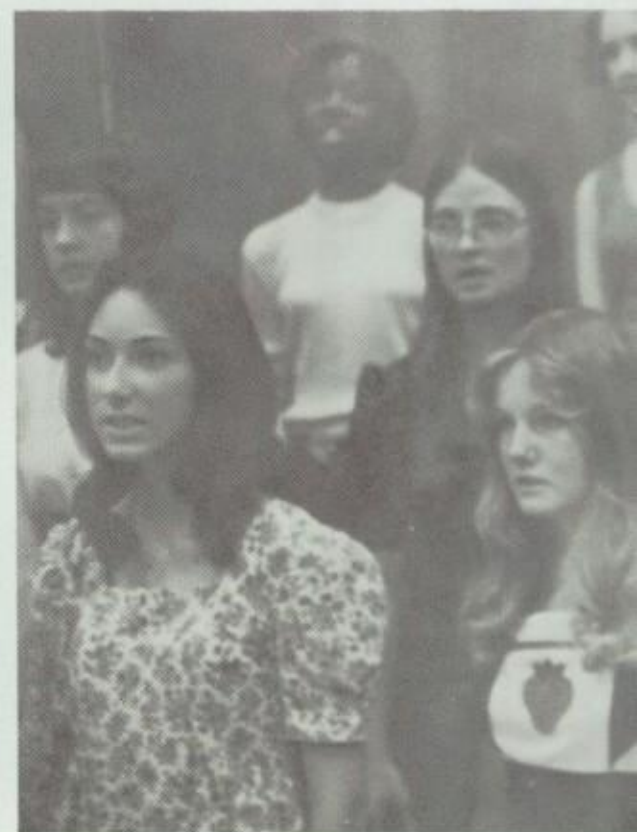

Their souls express joy

Whether it is in a concert or an assembly, the voices of Advanced Choir and Girls' Ensemble blend in musical harmony. Directed by Miss Lind, these groups give several performances throughout the school year. Such performances include subtle, cheerful and moving numbers that establish a better knowledge of music to their listeners.

They all help out

From the time school starts until the day of graduation, Concert Choir and K-Denzas are enthusiastically involved with practices and personal performances. Under the direction of Miss Lind and officers Dave Durkop, Kay Gremminger, Audrey Hicks and Keith Olson, the groups may be heard giving programs for the Kennedy student body and parents. In addition, they sing for service organizations, nursing homes, appear on T.V., and entertain for special luncheons and banquets. The highlight of the year is reached during the Christmas season when students appear at many of the surrounding shopping centers and sing both traditional and modern carols. No one denies that being a part of one of these groups is time consuming and a lot of hard work, but it is also a thrilling and learning experience in which all students have a big responsibility, which they gladly take.

Excelled in performance

Precise training, enthusiasm, and determination were the key factors that led to success for Kennedy's orchestra. Several concerts were performed throughout the year which parents and students were able to attend. Special performances included the Christmas and Spring concerts in which several classical numbers were exhibited.

Concert Band playing loud

There they are at every football game and school concert, playing loud and proud. Mr. Shadwell, director of Concert Band, leads this group onto victorious accomplishments. Even though Mr. Shadwell is seldom in the spotlight, his efforts are seen by all corners of the school. Several students in Concert Band go on to participate in City and State wide bands. Perhaps the most common sight is their blue and green uniforms which can be seen at football games and in the Homecoming parade, playing their music long and proud.

Upper: Band marches and plays in the Veterans Day Parade. Lower: Concert Band poses in front of Kennedy.

A learning experience

Self-discipline and sincere determination sum up the requirements for members of JFK's speech team. Miss Evans, sponsor, meets with students everyday during 7th period in room 326 to coach members in debate, dramatic readings, poetry, extemporaneous, and speech techniques. Miss Evans also discusses various meets with officers, Janet Pennock, president; Chris Moore, vice-president; Tyler Geiger, treasurer; Margaret Cox, secretary and Keli Price, representative-at-large.

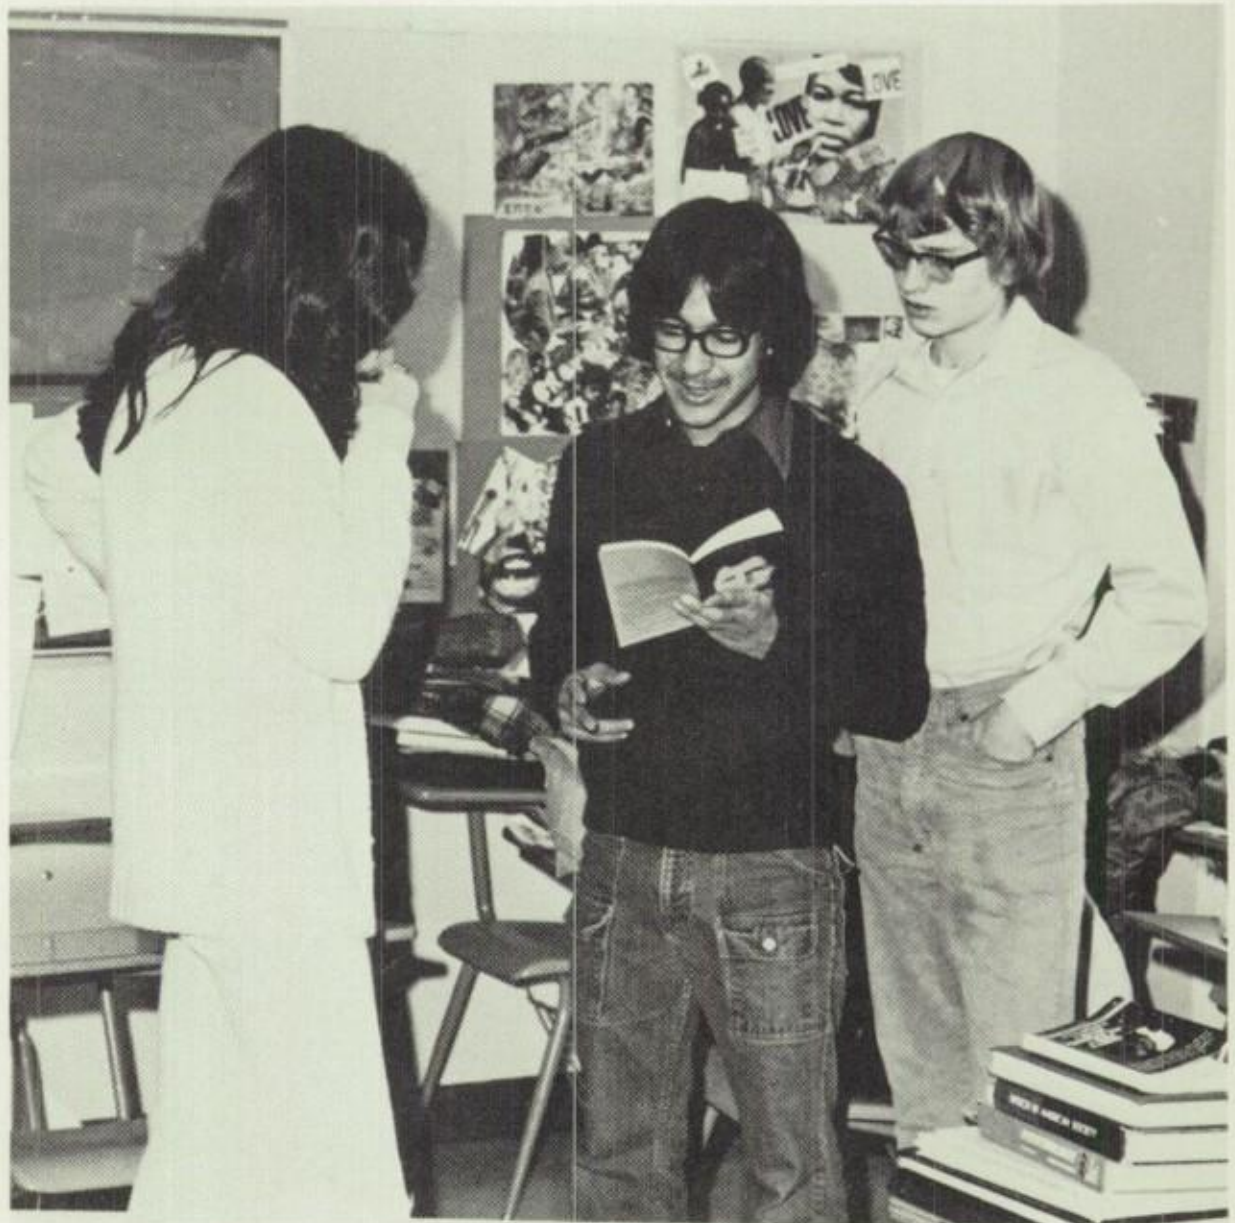

The 41 speech team members are able to participate in about 18 different meets which include students from all over the Colorado area. Kennedy students also try to attend, sometime during the school year, at least two meets that are held outside of Denver.

The highlight for the speech team this school year was probably hosting the 52nd annual Shafroth Extemporaneous Meet, in which two representatives from each of the Denver high schools took part. After the meet, a luncheon was hosted by JFK's speech team for representatives and their principals. All in all this year's speech team had a successful year.

They work as one together

There they are in room 227 during 7th period, 16 students working together as one to produce a group effort, THE STATESMAN. All students serve as reporters and are encouraged by Nancy Harris, overall editor; John Shurts, editorial editor; Kathy Kouris, page three editor; Tim Kingston, sports editor and Mr. Ridgeway, advisor. Mr. Ridgeway urges Statesman members to develop creatively their own techniques and styles. The Statesman staff decided once again this year to produce an in depth study in each of their issues. Such topics included shortages, annexation, and nostalgia. This approach was suggested because Statesman members felt that students at Kennedy should be made aware of events that affect them as individuals in the community. These students, who produce the paper, agree that being a member of The Statesman staff is not only satisfying, but develops journalism skills, insight, and one's character.

Creations That Are Never Dry

Since the name art service means little, few people know that they exist, but behind that name exists a group of creative minds waiting to be set free. The class consists of about twenty students who use their talents to enhance the morale of Kennedy students and also draw attention to events and notices of student interest. It is hard work and requires patience, but somehow through it all art service manages to keep coming up with creations that are never dull and dry.

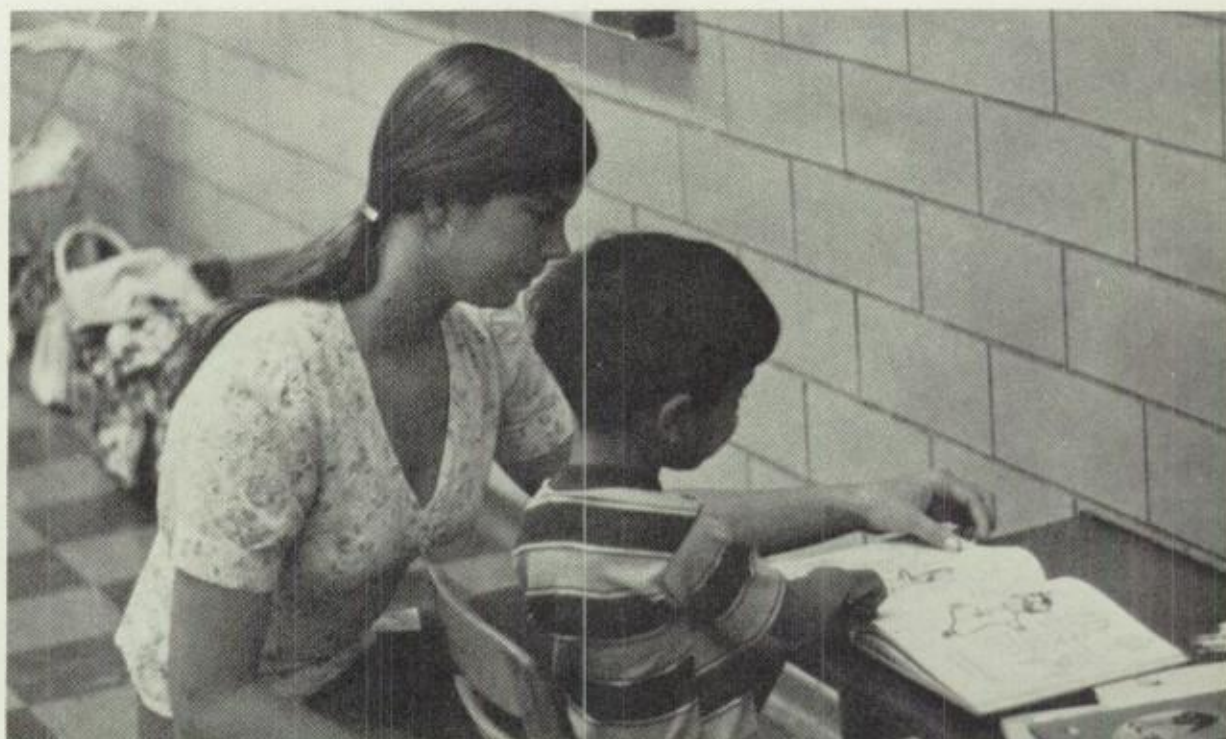

Upper: Tish Whittington works attentively on poster. Center: Mr. Heyden, sponsor, Steve Fredericks and Phil Moutsos work on silk-screen printing for future activities. Lower: Models come in all shapes and sizes.

Pupils learn on both ends

Finger painting, storytelling and a sense of accomplishment are just a small portion of the benefits that students receive in social problems classes. Twice a month, these students attend several of the Denver Elementary Schools to instruct small preschool children in the children's future preparations of learning. Mrs. Waselkow, sponsor of this program, reports that Kennedy has one of the best organizations in the city and that several students go into similar teaching careers after high school. Actually, it is a time in which pupils learn on both ends.

Dedicated to achievements

ROTC, according to Major Fields and Sergeant Pitzen, is an organization dedicated to the training of reserve officers. It also helps build the moral character of cadets by creating self-reliance, a sense of leadership and discipline. Good citizenship, patriotism, high sense of honor, and habits of order and precision are the primary goals of ROTC. This year held high achievements for students participating in ROTC, as seen when Girls' Rifle Team took City and by the announcement of Rick Nickell, Brigade Commander. Although the school year was profitable, Major Fields and Sergeant Pitzen hope for higher achievements in the future.

Knowledge is key operator

Although the computer programming class, under the direction of Mr. McKenzie, was smaller than previous years, it gave students participating in this program a better chance to work with business machines such as keypunch, teletype and a 9300 computer. For about 25 students, this class has provided knowledge of the basics of computers which can be used in years to come.

Distribution of experience

Distributive Education is a cooperative work program between businesses and high schools. The program offers 50 students, under the direction of Mr. John Huston, a tri-fold learning curriculum which includes classroom study, on-the-job training, and participation in DECA.

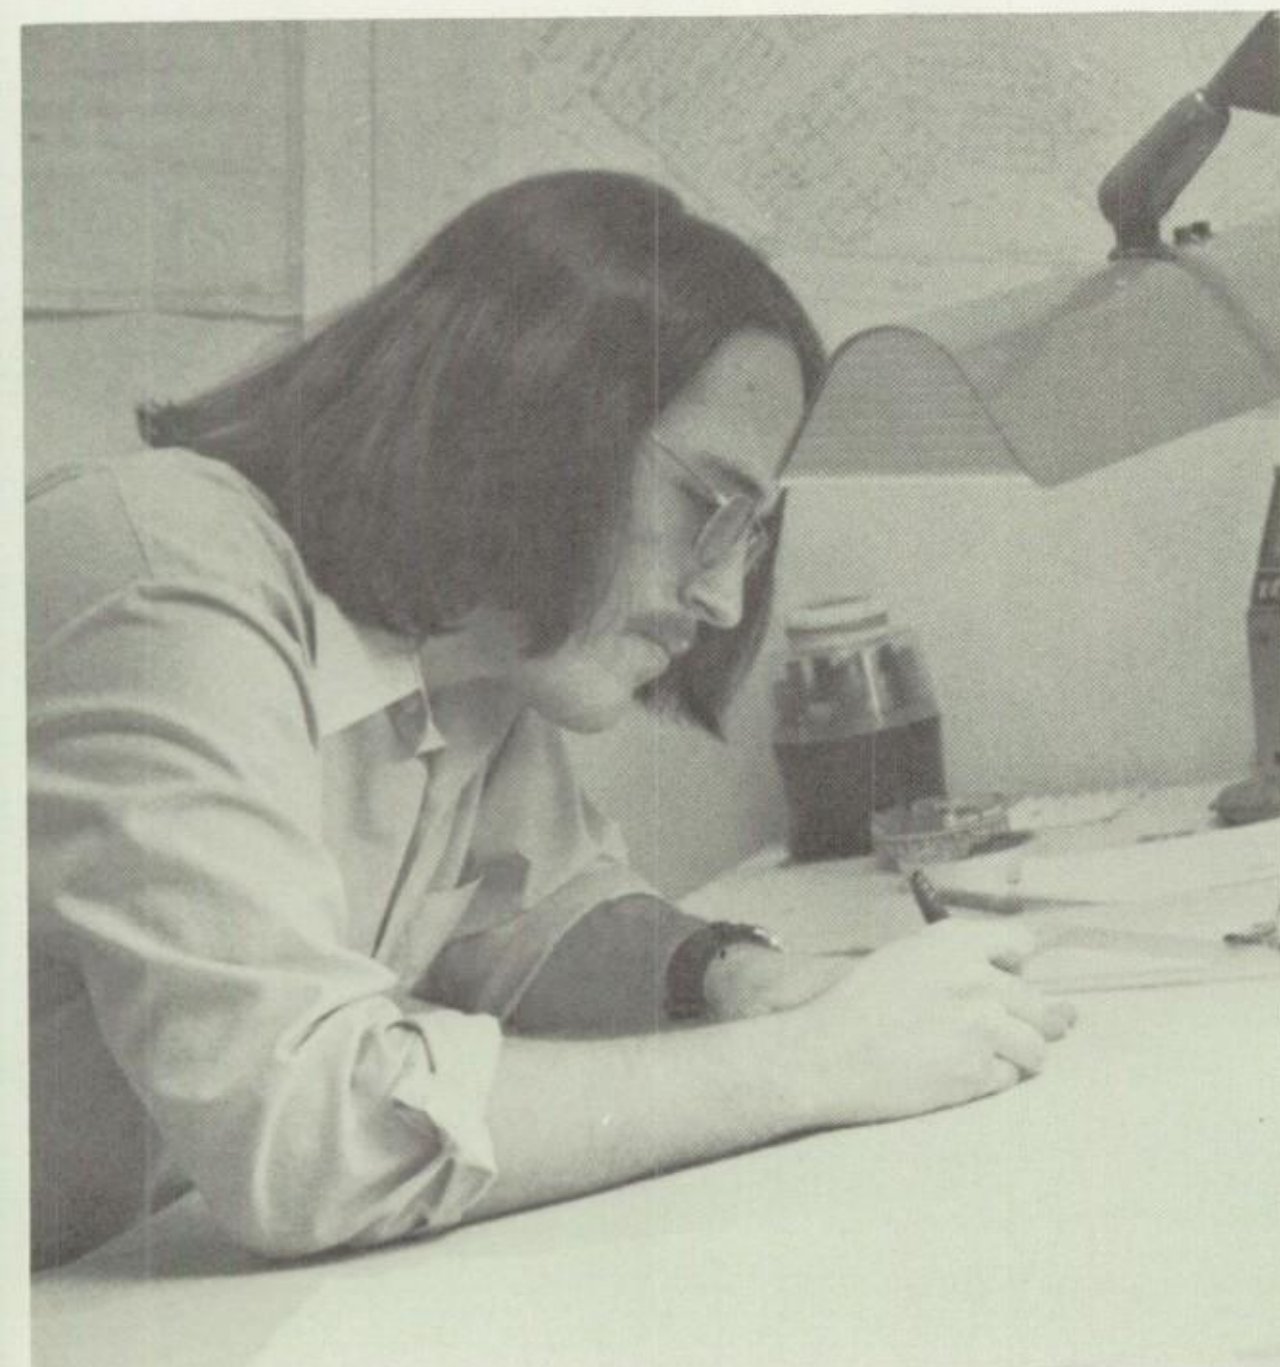

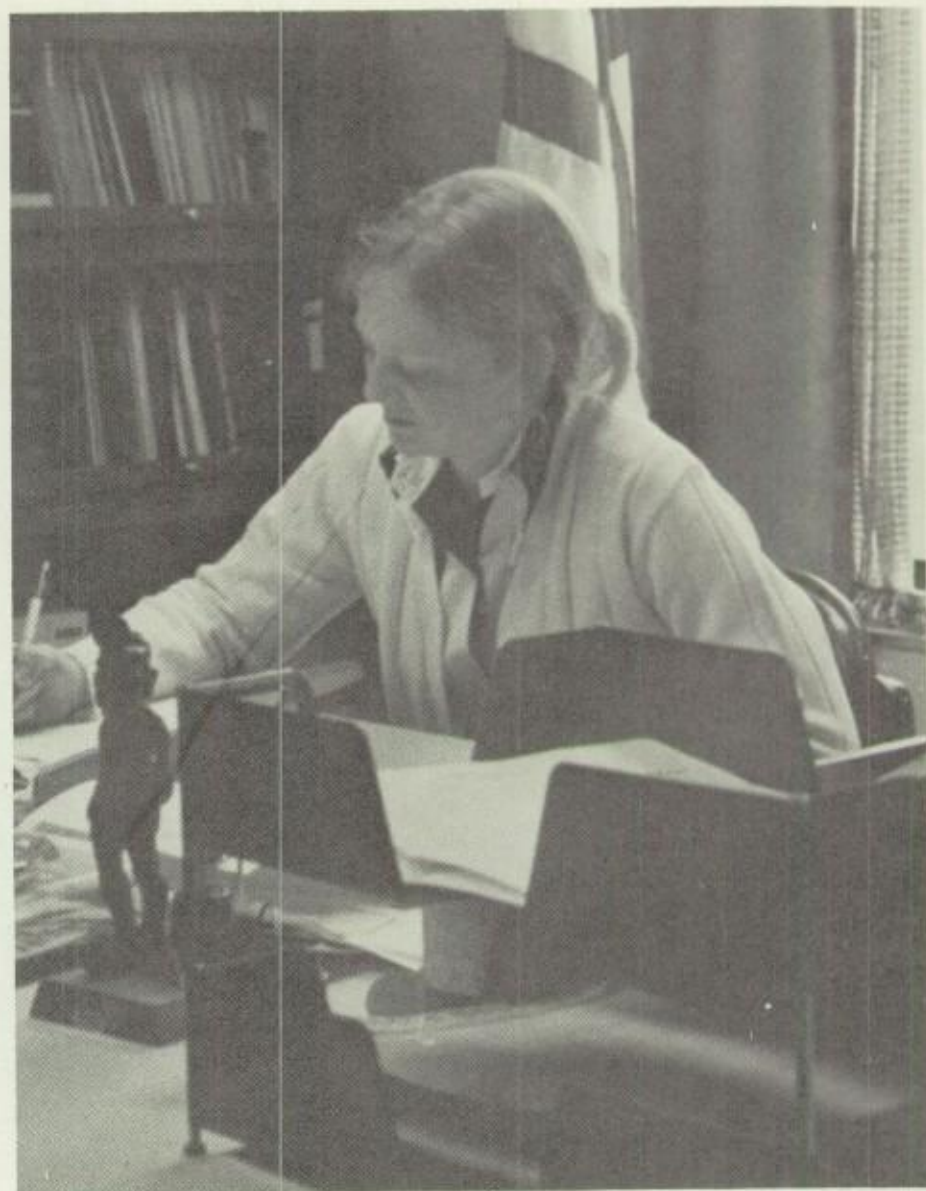

December involved DE members in rating the display techniques of Bear Valley merchants. In January the students were invited to test their skills against eleven other DE programs in District Competition. Contributing points to JFK's third place win were; Mary Richmeier, first place in job interview and placement; Brian Marquand, third place in public speaking; Gloria Clark was elected as district treasurer; and Mike Smith was elected to the State nominating committee. Later in the spring students were invited to compete for state honors in Colorado Springs.

Training for desired jobs

JFK's I.C.E. program is in reality a combination of three different areas; trades and industries, office training and health occupations. Students enrolled in this program, spend a half day at school and a half day of on the job training. In addition, pupils receive the self-assurance of obtaining skills in the occupation of their choice that will help them in years to follow, to keep their present position with their employer, or aid them as they work their way through college.

Excellence in the fine arts

Kennedy has long been recognized as a leader in the Fine Arts fields. Many of this year's seniors have displayed exceptional talents in the varied facets of the Arts, continuing the mode of excellence established in the past. On these two pages are pictured twenty seniors who have been chosen by teachers from each of the departments, as people who have made significant contributions in the Fine Arts fields of their specific interests. Their talents repeatedly demonstrated on the local level, and occasionally on the national level, have resulted in a personal pride in their accomplishments, as well as one shared by everyone at Kennedy.

Le club de Francais, avec l'aide de Mlle Tramutt, a cherche la culture francaise dans la ville de Denver, c'est-a-dire, "The Mile-High-City." Les membres du club ont goute des specialties de la cuisine francaise, ont assiste a la projection de films francais chez "Le Flick de Larimer Square," ont construit une charrette basse pour "Le Homecoming," et ont chante des chansons de Noel pendant une tempete de niege violente.

Le clou de l'annee fut l'envoi des provisions scolaires a des enfants indiens dans le Montana. Cette annee s'est revelee tres fructuese.

Under the profound guidance of Miss Tramutt, the members of the French Club tried to seek out what French culture they could find in the "Mile-High-City." They tasted French cooking, saw French films at "The Flick" in Larimar Square, built a float for Homecoming, and sang Christmas carols in a raging blizzard.

The high point of the year was sending school supplies to Indian children in Montana. This year has proved itself to be a very profitable one for the French Club.

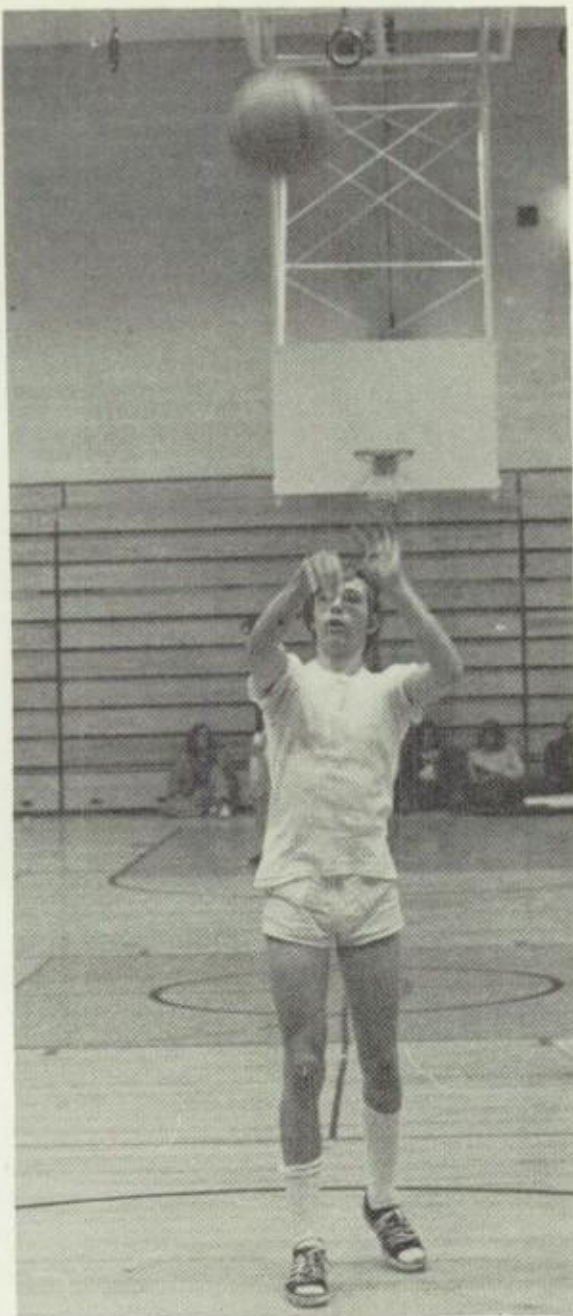

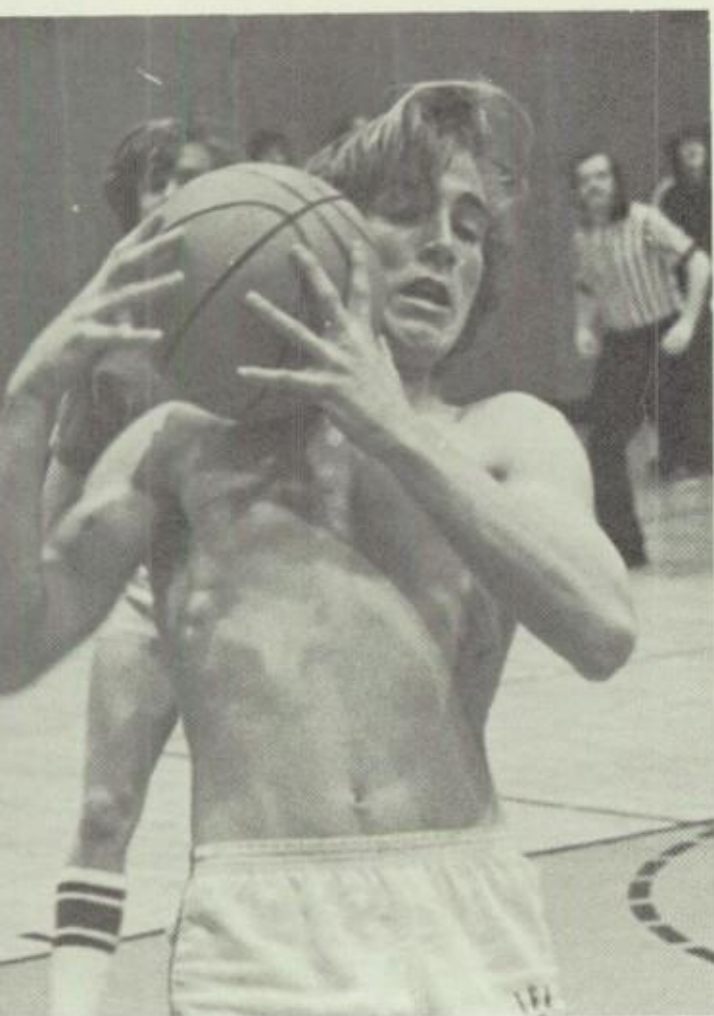

Surgery proves new experience

Gaining an insight into medical careers motivated the Caduceous' club members to search out new activities in which they could learn more about careers in the medical profession. Highlighting the year's events was an excursion to see open-heart surgery performed at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Also included in the club's agenda were monthly speakers and at Christmas time, carolling at the Swedish Hospital's Extended Care unit. A feeling of warmth and concern for the wellbeing of their fellow human beings gave the club strength in purpose as well as enjoyment in their activities.

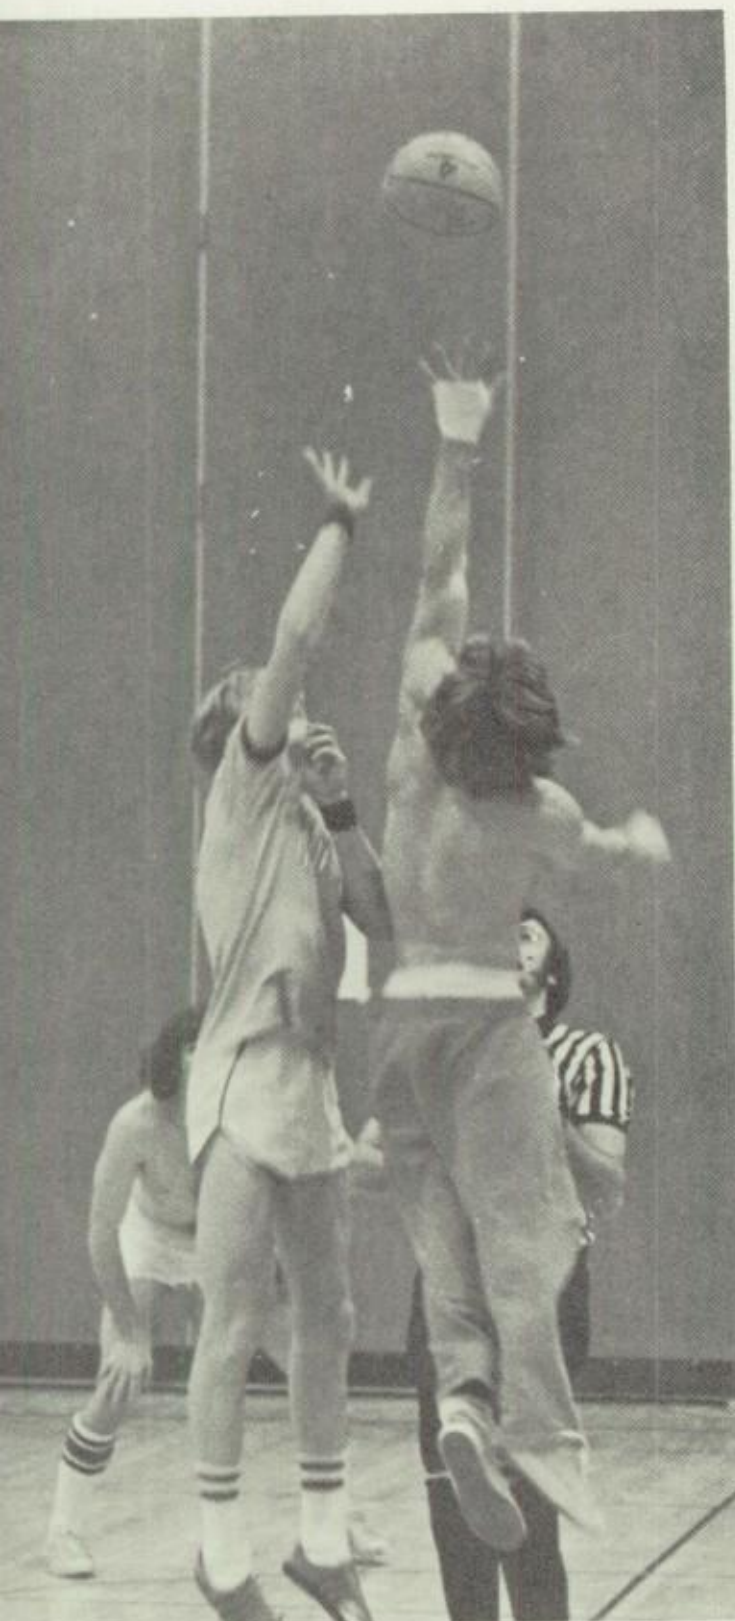

Upper: Caduceous' Christmas carolling provided enjoyment for senior citizens as well as members of the club. Lower Left: Conversations carried on by Caduceous' members while visiting Swedish Hospital helped develop feelings of warmth and understanding. Lower Right: Miss Meserve's enthusiasm as sponsor of Caduceous made the year a success.

Balls and good times mark YBA

The Winos, Undertakers, Manamoos, and Flashers? These creative names paralleled many of the diverse types of people who partook in Kennedy's Youth Basketball Association. Aiming more towards a good time than serious ball playing, the organization had more teams enter the sport than in previous years.

Reasons varied with individuals as to why they played in the league. Many jokingly said they were not accepted by the varsity team. However, most could agree they were playing "just for the fun of it."

Ski fanatics head for hills

Skiing is more than just a popular sport, it's an international passion. Denverites have, practically in our backyards, what many claim to be the best conditions in the world for skiing. Skiing has become a weekly affair for the members of the JFK Ski Club. They will gladly give up a chance to sleep late on the weekend in order to climb on a bus and take off for the slopes.

Joining together theme of the IRC

Perhaps with the understanding of other nations' diverse cultures, people would more readily accept the ideas, troubles or concerns of other countries and eliminate the prejudices caused by ignorance. The International Relations Club has worked convincingly towards securing universality of these goals. Its members invited many persons from foreign countries as speakers to discuss their homeland's background and current society.

In addition, the JFK members of IRC participated in a program at the University of Northern Colorado at which they represented a designated nation after much preparation and research. The group was motivated toward educating themselves to achieve high ideals and a hope for a unified world, a difficult but worthy journey.

Upper: Mr. Sclavenitis, sponsor of IRC, promoted theme of understanding.

Originality in school service

Increasing its domain not only to include the handling of its yearly activities, the National Honor Society strove to help others by providing instructional aid to teachers and students who requested it. This movement, although just beginning, was well received by the faculty as a possibility to promote a better, more fulfilling education to those who wanted it.

Enthusiastic participation was also present at the groups annual projects: the alumni tea, car wash and spaghetti dinner. It was a full but run year.

Beethoven and Charlie Brown

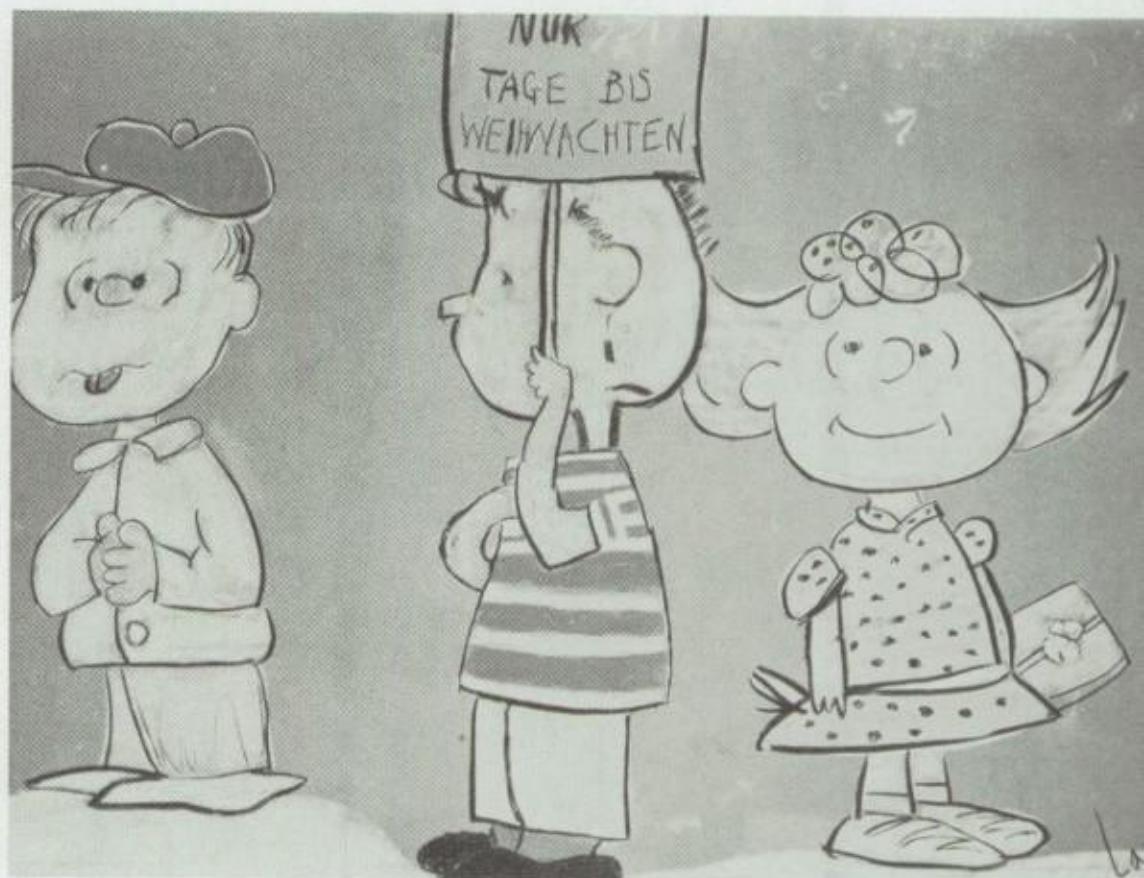

The German Club has had a very active year. Their beer-stein, six feet high, took first place in the float-building contest at Homecoming. Members took part in canned food drives, dances with the Edelweiss Club, many soccer games, and pizza parties were held frequently. In December they all gathered together to celebrate Beethoven's Birthday.

Similar to the American Halloween, Walpurgisnacht, April 30, was also celebrated. Most impressive and memorable, however, were the works of art on the boards in Room 331.

Diesses Jahr hat der deutsche Klub viel gemacht. Ihr Bierkrug, 6-Fuss hoch, hat den ersten Preis im Festwagenbaukampf gewonnen. Die Mitglieder haben Buechsenfleisch und gemuese fur die Armen gegeben, haben mit dem Edelweiss Klub getanzt, viel Fussball gespielt, viel Pizza gegessem, haben Beethovens Geburtstag gefeiert.

Die Walpurgsnacht (den 30 April) unserem Halloween aehnlich, wurde auch gefeiert. Aber der Eindrucksvollste und Denkwuerdigstewar die Kunst der deutschen Schueler an der Tafel an Zimmer 331.

Spanish culture brought to JFK!

The main purpose of the Spanish Club is to have a group where students who are interested in Spanish can meet, exchange ideas, and do things that will give them a better insight into the culture of the Spanish-speaking peoples.

Some of the activities the club members did this year were competing against the other foreign language clubs in a float-building contest for Homecoming, a hayrack ride and barn dance, and going to see a group of Spanish dancers and singers, the Fiesta Folklórico. A dinner at a local Mexican restaurant and a party were held at the end of the year.

El Club de Espanol es un lugar donde los estudiantes cambian ideas y aprenden de la cultura de gente habla espanol.

Algunas actividades fueron una competencia contra otros clubs. Un baile, un paseo a caballo, el programa Fiesta Folklórico, una cena y una fiesta.

Roman culture and good times

While having fun involving themselves in a host of activities, members of the Junior Classical League were at the same time gaining a little knowledge about ancient Roman and Greek culture.

To begin the year, new members were kidnapped, dressed in togas, and made to recite the JCL Creed as a part of their initiation. Candles and classical music set the mood, and the Halloween party followed.

Visiting residents at a nursing home, as well as a Christmas party, complete with togas, Roman food, and the ancient tradition of exchanging prank gifts brought in the holidays.

Springtime gave two opportunities for members to meet fellow lovers of the ancient cultures. Latin Day, the annual state competition, and the state convention in Estes Park closed out a big year.

Dramatic kids put on an act

Athenians, or Drama Club, provides an opportunity for drama students, and those who do not have room for drama in their schedules, to get experience in the various aspects of the theatre.

For example, this year the Athenians did student-faculty scenes, in which the members acted with, and directed the teachers. Other productions are done about every two months. By earning a required number of points for participation in drama productions, certain members were inducted into the International Thespian Society.

Upper: Pat Dawson, Athenians President, initiates the new Thespian members. Center: Mr. Sullivan and Mary Orrino act out a scene during the student - faculty session. Lower: Mark Santo steals the show from his co-stars, Miss Evans and Mrs. Teaberry.

We dedicate this book to:

This volume of the PROFILE is dedicated to the new attitude at Kennedy. An attitude which has developed not only at Kennedy, but nationally. We have become more personally involved in the future and the part we will play in it.

We have seen a war which caused divided emotions and disrupted the working of a nation. Since we are no longer deeply involved in Vietnam, we have had time to devote to reflecting upon our endangered future. Man will no longer accept the course the world is taking. He is speaking out, becoming actively involved and is beginning to realize the serious implications of corrupt government and an unstable economy. A nation who once viewed its resources as abundant, now finds many of them sadly depleted. In addition, it is becoming evident that diverse religious, political, moral and ethnic views are secondary to the fact that we must work and live together, to achieve the conditions necessary for the survival of future generations.

To this end, Kennedy students have made the "JOHN" more tolerable by becoming more personally involved with the things which affect their lifestyles and those of their fellow man.

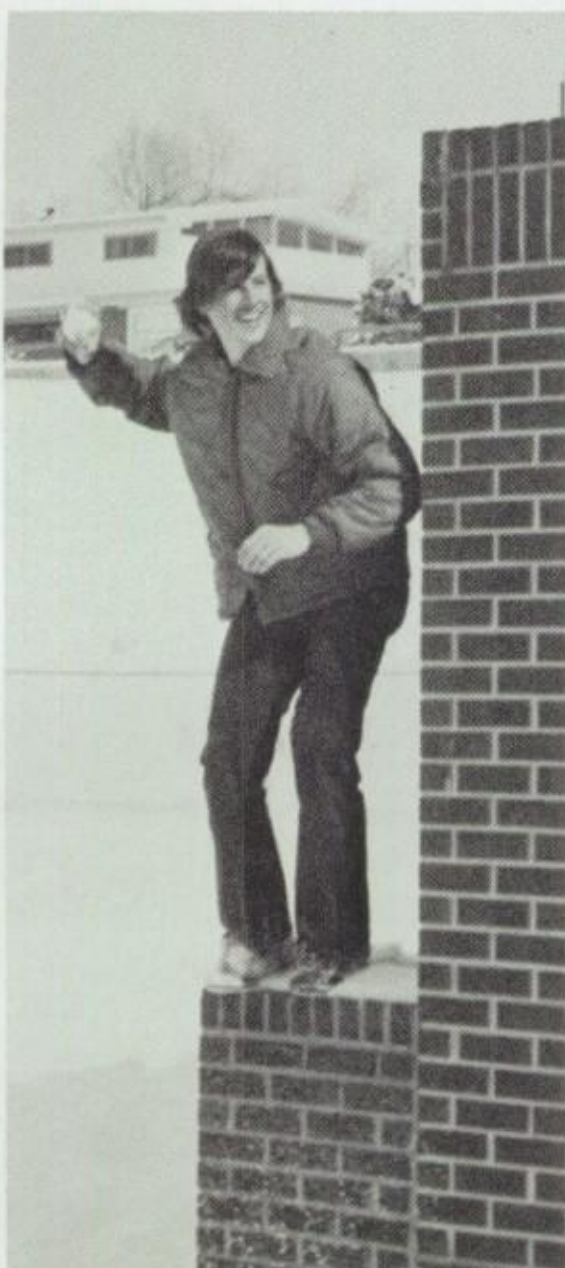

Dear Friends,

The members of the '74 PRO-FILE Staff have dedicated themselves to making this volume the best ever. It has meant long hours of writing, laying out pages, taking, developing and printing pictures. Members often found themselves foregoing other pleasures to work on "the book".

We sincerely hope this book has lived up to, and even surpassed your expectations.

Thank you for helping to make this year worth writing about.

Sincerely,
'74 PROFILE STAFF
